DEATH PENALTY IS TO BE ASKED FOR ABDUCTOR

While Police Hunt T. H. Robinson as Kidnapper of Mrs. B. V. Stoll of Louisville, Kentucky, Prosecutor Announces He Will Seek to Have Supreme Penalty Imposed

Mrs. Stoll In Good Health To-day

Associated Press

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 17.—The death penalty will be asked for Thomas H. Robinson Jr., mad kidnapper of Mrs. Berry V. Stoll, United States District Attorney Thomas J. Sparks said to-day.

As the United States Government bent all its efforts to-day to find Thomas H. Robinson Jr., named as the mad kidnapper of Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll, Harold Nathan, Department of Justice investigator, announced charges of conspiracy to violate the Lindbergh law probably would be pressed against Mrs. Robinson.

Harold Nathan, U.S. Department of Justice investigator, emphasized the government had made "no deal" with anybody suspected in the case.

Nathan said the kidnapper drove the wealthy young Louisville society woman directly to Indianapolis after taking her from her home here a week ago and leaving a note demanding $50,000 ransom.

DOES NOT NEED PHYSICIANS
Mrs. Stoll was up and about, in good health and did not require the attendance of physicians or nurses, her uncle, Frederick M. Sackett, said to-day at the last conference held by federal investigators with the press.

"She is all right," said Mr. Sackett.

SEARCH AT CHICAGO
Chicago, Oct. 17.—The entire Chicago police force to-day plunged into the search for Thomas H. Robinson Jr., the suspected kidnapper of Mrs. Berry V. Stoll, who was said by federal agents to be driving toward the city.

Federal agents advised authorities here that Robinson was believed to have driven from Indianapolis in an automobile and that as long ago as Sunday the suspected kidnapper was believed they might find his son in Chicago.

Federal agents also questioned Albert Annan, forty-nine, who received messages, both by mail and telephone, concerning the progress of the Stoll case.

Annan is held by police in connection with the death of a woman known as Mrs. Schaefer, who officials said was his common law wife.

Onus For Relief May Be Reviewed

B.C. Proposes Unemployment Be Discussed at B.N.A. Act Conference; Division of Responsibility Has Caused Much Dissension

In response to Premier Bennett's invitation regarding the British North America Act conference in Ottawa, British Columbia has suggested the subject of unemployment be added to the agenda.

Other general matters to be opened at the gathering meet with the approval of this province which is quite satisfied that changes in the act are not only necessary but essential.

If the B.C. proposal to have unemployment discussed is accepted, it will mean the long-standing claim by many local governing bodies, especially in municipalities, that unemployment should be solely a federal responsibility will come into the open.

Since the early years of the depression this has been the subject of many resolutions. Municipal authorities soon found they were entirely unable to cope financially with the relief demands, and this was partially recognized by the federal government in its percentage contribution. However, the last federal move limiting to a fixed amount the contribution for each province indicates a desire on their part to gradually ease out of this responsibility.

VIENNA HEARS MANY RUMORS

Associated Press
Vienna, Oct. 17.—The Austrian capital seethed again to-day with rumors, ranging from the assassination of Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg to a new "putsch" by a combination of Socialists and Communists.

The police secret service was unable to locate the origins of the rumors, but the latter one was regarded in some quarters as having a partial basis in fact, the police had arrested more than 250 Socialists in the suburbs of Vienna.

Vance Guarded At Nanaimo Trial

Two Police Officers Accompany Vancouver Criminologist to Island Town

Special to The Times

Nanaimo, Oct. 17.—George Hannay appeared in the assize court here to-day charged with breaking and entering Pearson's Sales Ltd. on May 4 and stealing $16. He pleaded not guilty.

Hannay challenged twelve jurors. One woman was selected for duty. Evidence was given by R. T. Wilson, manager of Pearson's Sales Ltd., Miss McGregor, bookkeeper, and V. Monk, watchman. They described the wrecked safe and the building.

Sergeant Russell, provincial police officer, told of examining the premises and later searching Hannay's house and finding a quantity of tools, explosives and a suit of clothes hanging in the pantry.

Inspector J. F. C. B. Vance, who came from Vancouver yesterday escorted by Inspector Robert Owen and Detective Rod McLeod, looking none the worse for his recent experience with an acid thrower, with the exception of a bandaged hand, is expected to give expert evidence this afternoon.

That of twenty-four pages of notes containing the results of his investigations in the Hannay case would seriously handicap the scientific detective. Inspector Vance said the notes were stolen from the door pocket of his automobile the day of the acid attack.

Ottawa, Oct. 17.—If the rest of Canada would join in subscriptions to buy a yacht, seamen of the Maritime Provinces would sail in it in quest of the America's Cup, and he believed successfully, Premier L. P. D. Tilley of New Brunswick, stated in an interview here to-day.

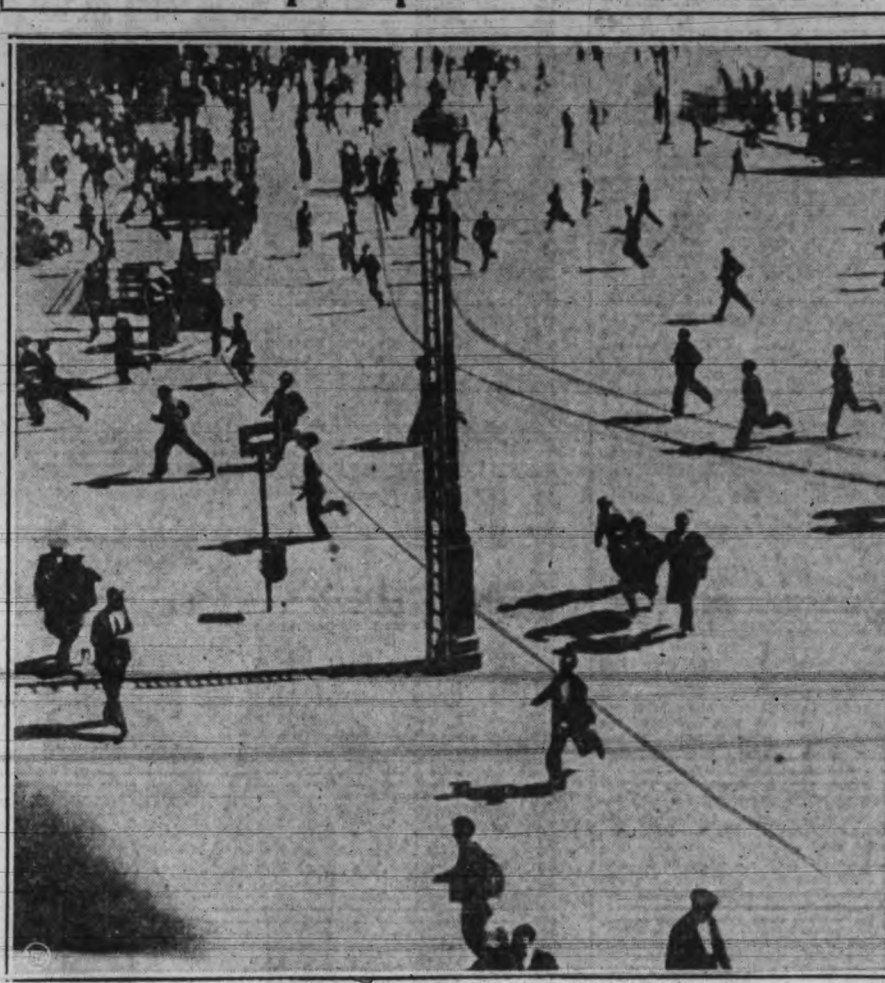

"I am too busy to start the subscription campaign myself, but why doesn't someone take up the idea?" asked Mr. Tilley. "We should be able to win that cup for Canada."

Mr. Tilley arrived in Ottawa with the two other Maritime Premiers, Hon. Angus Macdonald of Nova Scotia and Hon. W. J. P. Macmillan of Prince Edward Island. They will be in the capital for several days in connection with the sittings of the commission on Maritime claims.

Some of the sharpest fighting of the recent Spanish uprising took place in Madrid, where the loyal Civil Guards were massed to protect the government. ## U.S. Will Suggest Large Reductions In Navy Armaments

Renewal of London and Washington Treaties, and Suppression of Word "Ratio" Among Proposals Advocated at London

London, Oct. 17.—A substantial reduction in general naval armaments and the renewal of the Washington and London treaties will be suggested by the United States delegation in the forthcoming naval conversations, it was stated authoritatively to-day.

This authority said the Americans would be willing to eliminate the word "ratio" from any future agreement if Japan so desired, replacing the words with the term "relative security."

The United States delegation, it was said, is prepared to make a suggestion of mutual sacrifice on the part of each of the three powers in order to bring about an agreement and prevent any new armament race.

MEET SEPARATELY
Representatives of United States and Japan met separately at their own council tables to-day. The British named Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald the chairman of their own delegation.

The groups will meet as soon as the Japanese are ready. It was officially stated Great Britain's intention is to carry on the naval conversations, directed toward some kind of agreement before the 1935 treaty conference, but, laterally, that it was indicated, however, that Great Britain has no objection toward turning these conferences into an informal, round-table discussion.

Taxi Wage Ruling Is Due To-morrow

An order of the Board of Industrial Relations dealing with the protest of taxi-cab drivers against the practice of one company hiring out cars to its drivers on a mileage basis will be made public to-morrow.

In arriving at a decision the board took into account the possible effect of such a practice on other minimum wage scales now in force.

The feeling among local taxi-drivers is at high pitch over the matter as they see in it a threat to upset the equilibrium of their wage structure, fixed for the first time by the Board of Industrial Relations.

RICH DEALER'S SON ABDUCTED

Louis Esposito Kidnapped in New York; Held For $20,000 Ransom

New York, Oct. 17.—The snatch racket has struck in the Bronx again. Louis Esposito, twenty-three-year-old son of a wealthy junk dealer, is being held by kidnapers for $20,000 ransom.

Federal agents and police—just concluding their case against Bruno Hauptmann in the Lindbergh abduction and murder—have little to work on. They say the youth's family is too fearful of kidnappers' vengeance to co-operate. Esposito vanished Monday evening.

His automobile was found abandoned yesterday evening in the Bronx, seven miles north of his home, and about a mile south of Hauptmann's residence. Its proximity to the Hauptmann home, however, was not considered significant.

WAS TO BE MARRIED
The youth is the son of Anthony Esposito, wealthy junk dealer. He was engaged to be married shortly.

Two hours after Louis had disappeared his sister answered a telephone call, screamed and fainted. The voice on the wire had told her: "We have Louis and you won't see him again unless you pay us $20,000."

A second telephone call to the home, this one from a woman, came an hour after the first. The speaker ordered the brother who answered to meet her in front of a restaurant, saying she could be recognized by a small patch of adhesive tape on her nose.

Louis' two brothers hastened there, but could not find the woman. A friend told newspapermen last evening that the Esposito family's wealth was tied up in real estate and that $5,000 was the most cash they could raise. They were ready to compromise with the kidnapers at that figure, the informant said.

Chester, Conn., Oct. 17.—Gloria Gennaro, aged eight, missing from home overnight, was not kidnapped as her family feared, but stayed with two schoolmates who she had accompanied to their home after school closed yesterday.

She rode back to school this morning in the town bus, unaware of the excitement occasioned by an all-night search of state officers and constables for her.

STREET CAR STRIKE IN MELBOURNE

Canadian Press Cable via Reuter's
Melbourne, Australia, Oct. 17.—Melbourne tramway workers numbering 3,000 to-day decided definitely to go on strike immediately until their demands for an increase of about 50 cents a day and for improved working conditions are met.

Meanwhile the system of emergency motor transport is being put into effect and so far is working satisfactorily, the authorities claim.

TEXT OF NOTE
The note sent to Mr. Ford read: "You are on the spot, and if you want to live it will cost you $5,000. We've had it in for you a long time. All you have to do is get the money in $5 and $10 bills and put the money in a candy box and have it on the porch of 3541 Medbury Avenue—first porch you come to and if the police find out about this letter they may get me, but my boys will get you and if the money is not there you will get killed."

"Have the money there on October 12, 1934, and at 11 p.m. sharp (October 12, 11 p.m. sharp)."

B.C. Lumber Cut Up By One Third

Provincial Records Show Substantial Advance in Production in First Nine Months, With Employment Increased By Considerable Margin

Increased activity in British Columbia lumbering, a movement which got under way toward the middle of last year, has been maintained over a continued period and forest branch reports made public to-day showed the gain during the first nine months of the current year to be approximately 30 per cent.

This is based on the log scale reported to the department.

The total scale in board feet is given as 1,498,074,000 for the period. This compares with 1,159,847,000 in the corresponding months last year.

The lines cut in the same time was 3,098,000 feet, as against 2,000,000 in 1933.

Timber cut by cords dropped from 264,000 to 112,000 cords, but production of heavy ties doubled, from 438,821 last year to 956,839.

The extra production has provided additional work for a large number of men. An estimate by the Department of Labor recently put the increased employment in the last four months alone at more than 1,500 men.

By far the largest proportion of the increased business has been export, with the shipments to the United Kingdom at a much higher figure than last year.

The gains have been recorded month by month without interruption. The September scale was 260,000 cords, an advance of 4,000,000 feet over the same month last year, although there was a decrease of 5,000,000 feet from August.

BEDEAUX GIVES UP EXPLORING

Expedition Fails to Cross Mountains to Telegraph Creek, B.C.

Canadian Press
New York, Oct. 17.—Charles E. Bedaux, head of the expedition seeking to explore the northern wilds of British Columbia, expects to arrive in Edmonton October 27 en route to New York, according to word received at the Bedaux offices here to-day.

The message from Bedaux, dated from Hudson's Hope, gave no information other than the time of his expected arrival at Edmonton and that the noted French explorer would arrive in New York City on October 31.

The message, however, was taken as confirmation of Canadian Press dispatches indicating the Bedaux party had abandoned efforts to reach its destination at Telegraph Creek.

Edmonton, Oct. 17.—The expedition of Charles E. Bedaux, New York and Paris industrial engineer, has failed in its attempt to blaze a new path across the mountains from Fort St. John to Telegraph Creek, B.C. The party is returning to Fort St. John, expecting to reach that point Friday. Here is Mr. Bedaux's story of the plan to return, as brought to Fort St. John by an advance courier and wired to The Edmonton Journal:

British Columbia is vitally interested in each of the other matters coming before the conference. They include state health insurance, on which this province has already spent a good deal of time and trouble; wage control, something else in which B.C. has shown the way; and the elimination of tax duplication, which is part of the B.C. better terms plea. The provincial government is no doubt watching with concern the attitude of Quebec toward changes in the act. Reports emanating from the east are to the effect that no attention will be given to amendments, this would block them.

However, some minor amendments were made three years ago without the provinces being consulted, and unless the objections are of a serious nature, unanimity might not be required.

Replying to the Prime Minister's invitation the province has suggested November 12 as a tentative date for the opening of the conference.

of the kidnapping of Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll.
The wealthy young society matron was brought home yesterday evening after a harrowing six days of captivity for a $50,000 ransom.
Robinson, former inmate of lunatic asylums, is named by federal agents as the man who entered the Stoll home last Wednesday, slugged Mrs. Stoll with an iron pipe and carried her off to an Indianapolis apartment where she remained until yesterday afternoon.

The federal operatives are confident they will get their man. He is believed to have fled the Louisville area in an automobile bearing Illinois license plates and a Chicago tag.

LOOK FOR MONEY
Investigators also are looking for the $50,000 ransom fund paid by Mrs. Stoll's husband, Berry V. Stoll, oil company executive, for her release.

The investigators are holding Robinson's wife, who they said picked up the $50,000 ransom package from her father-in-law—the intermediary—in Nashville. Mrs. Robinson was captured as she accompanied Mrs. Stoll from Indianapolis to Louisville yesterday in company with Rev. E. Arnold Clegg and his wife, who is a cousin of Berry V. Stoll.

GAVE PROTECTORS
George Stoll said to-day he had learned from his brother Berry that Mrs. Robinson had "proved a very much-needed protector to Mrs. Stoll" during the Indianapolis visit and on the way to Louisville. "She refused to participate in the ransom money," said George Stoll, "and came to Louisville at her own very great risk. The family here is very solicitous about her welfare and hopes she may be given every possible consideration. We feel she has been very fine to us."

George Stoll also emphasized that Rev. and Mrs. E. Arnold Clegg, to whom home in Indianapolis the kidnapping victim was brought yesterday afternoon, were chosen for a contact by the kidnappers because of Mrs. Stoll's distant relationship to Mrs. Stoll, and because of their high standing. They were not arrested.

Mrs. Stoll was put to bed as soon as she arrived at her home yesterday evening. She was brutally treated at times during her imprisonment but was said by a physician to be in fairly good condition.

IS QUESTIONED
Federal men questioned Mrs. Robinson at a secret hiding place here to learn her knowledge of the kidnapping.

Harold Nathan, in charge of the Department of Justice men in this area, said that Robinson, a college man, had formerly been employed by the Stoll Oil Refining Company of which Berry Stoll is president.

Wheat Now Smuggled From Canada To U.S.

Greater Police Activity Expected Along Border of Prairie Provinces; Hogs Smuggled From U.S. Into Canada

Canadian Press
Winnipeg, Oct. 17.—Smuggling of wheat across the boundary into the United States from Canadian farms to-day brought prospects of greater police activity in bordering states and provinces.
Bringing back memories of liquor running days when fast traveling cars sped cargoes to thirsty consumers, word came yesterday evening from Fargo, N.D., that fourteen Tower County farmers had pleaded guilty to wheat smuggling. Other cases are under investigation.
And the reports revived recent rumors from Regina and Moose Jaw that hogs are being smuggled from the United States into Canada—the opposite procedure from that followed by the wheat smugglers. Higher Canadian prices for hogs, and the premium on Canadian money in the United States are believed the reasons for the hog smuggling. No arrests in these cases have been reported.

PREMIUM ON DURUM
The premium being paid on No. 1 amber durum wheat and the extra revenue derived through processing taxes are believed the reasons for the smuggling of Canadian wheat into the United States. United States authorities estimate 160,000 bushels have been imported illicitly, chiefly from Manitoba points near the border.
Shortage of soft wheats for macaroni manufacturing in the United States has led to a large increase in legal importations of Manitoba's durum wheat through ports on the Great Lakes, and this was seen here as the incentive to smuggling.

When the Winnipeg Grain Exchange closed yesterday, No. 1 amber durum was selling at 90 1/2 cents a bushel on a cash basis. It showed a wide price spread even over No. 1 northern wheat. Canada's chief grain in the export field, which was selling on the cash market for 82 1/2 cents a bushel.

U.S. DEMAND GROWS
Grain statistics here disclosed that Canada's exports of amber durum wheat ran about 6,000,000 bushels in recent years, with very little of it, if any, going to the United States.

This season, however, demand for soft wheats in the United States has been strong.
Twenty cargoes of durums have been exported from Canadian Great Lakes ports to Duluth and Superior, totaling 3,596,726 bushels. And this trade was done legally, despite the United States tariff of 42 cents a bushel. Grain traders were confident the full demand in the United States had not been met and increased purchasing would be done.

The soft durum wheats form only a small fraction of the Canadian wheat production, and most of it is grown in Manitoba.

EVIDENCE IS UNDER ATTACK

Counsel For Georges, Indians, Asks Appeal Court to Rule Much Out

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Oct. 17.—Admission of evidence relating to the death of Provincial Constable Percy Carr at the trial of three Indian brothers for the murder of Constable H. G. Giesborne was questioned by Defence Counsel Stuart Henderson before he completed his case to-day in the brothers' appeal against the conviction.

Mr. Henderson contended most of the evidence was inadmissible, particularly testimony dealing with "grazing" of Carr and the disposal of his body in the Nicola River.
"There is no escape from the verdict, in my opinion, with that evidence in the jury was prejudiced," commented Mr. Justice A. A. McPhillips.

Justice W. G. McQuarrie thought the evidence was admissible.

Mr. Henderson, in discussing the disposal of the bodies, declared the Indians had done many foolish things under a species of terror and fright after finding out their brother Joseph was not dead.

Chief Justice J. A. Macdonald expressed the view the trial judge was wrong in admitting evidence relating to Carr's death either on the ground to show the Indian brothers, Richardson, Ennes and Alex. George, wanted to get rid of Carr as a witness against them or to show common intent to murder the officers.

At yesterday's session of the hearing Mr. Henderson continued to add to his argument that Constable Giesborne attempted to arrest Ennes George without a warrant or telling him that he was being arrested for what he and the Indians acted with provocation and in self-defence.

He also held the jury convicted the Indians of slaying a police officer and not an ordinary individual who was not an officer.

Mr. Justice McPhillips asked if Giesborne had put his hand on Ennes. The chief justice explained that Ennes broke from the officer's grasp and stepped back. He asked that if it was not a lawful arrest, it amounted to an assault by Giesborne. The case then revolved itself into one of ordinary murder, Mr. Henderson said.

"Or maybe manslaughter," added the chief justice.

QUESTION OF PROOF
The chief justice and Mr. Justice McPhillips did not think there had been adequate proof Giesborne was a police officer. It had been previously brought out in testimony that the constable acted as farm instructor and special police officer.

"A police officer should state the cause of the arrest," declared Mr. Justice McPhillips, "particularly in these days of kidnapping."

WOMAN HIT BY MAN AND DIES

Chicago, Oct. 17.—Police Lieut. William Reed to-day said Albert Annan, held in the mysterious death of Mrs. Ottilie Griffin, forty-five, in which a possible connection with the case by Mrs. Griffin's husband, who admitted he struck the woman yesterday afternoon during a drunken argument.

Annan had struck her about 3 p.m. Lieut. Reed asserted, but did not telephone physicians until about three hours later, because of fright. The housewife died of injuries known as Mrs. Roper, was found on a couch in a south side flat, blood flowing from the mouth and nose.

The St. Paul angle in the case by a mysterious telephone call while police were in the flat yesterday evening conducting their investigation in an office also known as telephone and a woman's voice said: "Whatever you do, get word to Al that Mrs. Stoll is back."

The call was "Al" to "beat it" and hung up.

Two agents of the Department of Justice questioned Annan for several hours, then left the police station where he was being held, refusing to comment.

FRIENDLY SOLICITUDE
Lieut. Reed, however, said Annan had accounted for his interest in the Stoll kidnapping case as inspired merely by a friendly solicitude. He had attended Sunday school as a boy with either the father or the grandfather of the kidnapped woman's husband as his teacher, he stated, according to Lieut. Reed, and declared his home originally had been in Louisville.

Analysis of the dead woman's vital organs showed she had been drinking, a coroner's chemist said.

NOTE FOUND
A note signed by a Ruth A. Annan, 1603 S. Ford, Louisville, Ky., was found in the police station and was quoted by them as follows: "Dear Al: Your letter arrived to-day. Mrs. Stoll hasn't been found yet."

The letter was postmarked at Louisville and was dated October 13. Annan told police he had been expecting a telephone call from his sister Ruth in Louisville, but a check of telephone company records disclosed the phone call had come from Chicago.

Chicago, Oct. 17.—A mysterious telephone call to the home of an accused slayer, bringing the message "Mrs. Stoll has been found," was traced this afternoon to the home of Miss Ruth Annan, Louisville, Ky.

Miss Annan is the sister of Albert Annan, forty-nine, held for the death yesterday of his common law wife.

Pangborn May Try For Plane Record

London, Oct. 17.—Clyde Pangborn, United States aviator who is entered in the London-Melbourne air race with Col. Roscoe Turner, is planning an attack on the world speed record for land planes, it was revealed to-day.

He has been negotiating to buy the famous Supermarine racing seaplane 66 in which Lieutenant Blainforth won the Schneider Trophy in 1931 at a speed of 407 miles an hour.

Pangborn's idea is to remove the pontoon, substitute wheels, and fit the machine with a new and smaller engine. He is convinced he will be able to beat Wedell's land plane record of 304 miles an hour, and make at least 320.

Hauptmann Appeals Ruling

Asks New York Supreme Court to Decide Against Extradition to New Jersey

Associated Press
New York, Oct. 17.—Bruno Richard Hauptmann was a step closer to-day to trial for the murder of the infant son of Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh.

His plea against extradition rejected, Hauptmann's only hope of preventing his removal to New Jersey now lies in an appeal to the appellate division of the Supreme Court. His counsel, James M. Fawcett, plans to file an appeal immediately.

The unending carpenter's fight against extradition was dealt a crushing blow when Supreme Court Justice Ernest E. L. Hammer dismissed the writ of habeas corpus sought by Fawcett in an attempt to prevent Hauptmann's removal to New Jersey.

"My conclusion is that the relator (Hauptmann) has failed to make out a case, and that he has not established beyond a reasonable doubt that he was not in the state of New Jersey the night the crime alleged was committed."

STAY GIVEN TILL FRIDAY
After the decision was announced, Fawcett obtained a stay of execution until 4 p.m. Friday in order to bring his appeal before the appellate division. It is considered likely action on the appeal will be taken by that time.

Hauptmann remains in the Bronx County jail, where he has been held since his arrest nearly a month ago. If the final barrier to his extradition is removed, he will be taken immediately to Flemington, N.J., where his trial will take place. New Jersey authorities were ready to transfer Hauptmann across the Hudson yesterday evening if Justice Hammer had not granted the stay.

Hearing on Hauptmann's appeal to-day was set for next Friday afternoon in the appellate division of the supreme court.

James M. Fawcett, attorney for Hauptmann, declared that if necessary he would carry his fight to the United States Supreme Court.

"If unsuccessful there, it is likely that, if necessary, we will go to the United States Supreme Court."

SNOW FALLS ON SIERRA NEVADAS

Associated Press
San Francisco, Oct. 17.—Snow left by the second fall of the season whitened the high Sierra Nevada mountains of northern California and southern Oregon to-day. The white flakes piled up more than two feet in depth at some places and caused the California highway department to order out ploughs.

Thirty-one inches were measured at a forest ranger station thirty-one miles east of Jackson. At Mammoth Lake, Oregon, temperature dropped to twenty-one degrees as swirling flakes swept over nearby mountains.

Light rains were reported in some valley sections. Skies were cloudy over the coast.

Move to Recover Funds of Hydro

Ontario Board to Sue Ex-Commissioners Meighen and Maguire For Sum

Associated Press
Toronto, Oct. 17.—Recovery of funds allegedly spent to hire detectives to "get something on" the Liberal party of Ontario prior to the general election last June will be sought in a court case by the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission, and two former Hydro officials.

T. Stewart Lyon, present commissioner, announced yesterday evening the commission had adopted a resolution to take immediate action to recover $4,300 which he said was "illegally diverted from the funds of the commission." Other members of the new commission are Attorney-General Arthur W. Robb and Hon. T. B. McQuesten, Minister of Highways and Public Works.

Documents found in the commission's files, Mr. Lyon charged, disclosed the former commissioners paid $4,300 to detectives in expenses and fees "which were on a very lavish scale. He said there was evidence of a conspiracy to manufacture evidence" along desired lines.

Governor Jose Padilla estimated the loss in Bulacan alone would reach $1,000,000. Constabulary officers placed damage in Iloilo at $60,000. Manila estimates ranged from $500,000 to $2,500,000.

Manila, P.I., Oct. 17.—The first of victims of Tuesday's typhoon grew rapidly to-day as provinces of Luzon Island sent in belated reports over patched-up telegraph wires. Forty-one were listed as dead by The Manila Tribune.

The Manila Daily Bulletin estimated $4,500 were homeless and placed property damage at nearly $2,000,000.

Manila estimates ranged from $500,000 to $2,500,000.

BEDEAUX GIVES UP EXPLORING

pect to reach Hudson's Hope October 19. Within fifteen days' march of Telegraph Creek we had to turn back on September 28 because of hoof rot, the disease causing us to lose in a few days one-fourth of our 120 horses.

It became impossible for us to carry our needed food supply and under this handicap our return from Sifton Pass has been most difficult.

ARRIVED AT GOAL
An advance party headed by Lamarque arrived in Telegraph Creek September 14, proving the route it had proposed as practical. Lamarque returned by same route and met us on our way back at Fox Pass on October 3.

Outside of a few minor injuries all members of the expedition are well. The horses remaining alive will be wintered near Fort Graham. The adverse weather which never left us alone and cost us such heavy losses in horses and men is also responsible for our bringing back a film that will be considered unique and fascinating. It is our one consolation.

ALBERTA COWBOY CONTEST WINNER

H. Linder, With Broken
Wrist, Takes Bareback
Bronco Prize at New York

Canadian Press
New York, Oct. 17.—Herman Linder was not crippled with a fractured wrist, he probably would ride comets and shooting stars for amusement.

However, the gangling cowboy from Cardston, Alta., has only the one good hand at present and has to curtail his activities to taking part in the world championship rodeo helding forth at Madison Square Garden.

The wrist he cracked up in a spill at an earlier edition of the show in no way cramped his style yesterday evening when he took first money in the bareback bronco-riding contest.

GERMANS DRILL ON LONG ISLAND

TORONTO YOUTH ATTEMPTS SUICIDE

Associated Press
Los Angeles, Oct. 17.—Thomas P. Phelan, who was identified by police as the son of H. W. Phelan of Toronto, attempted to end his life here early today by shooting himself, police reported.

The reported suicide attempt took place at fashionable Coconut Grove, rendezvous of film celebrities.

A note, addressed to W. H. Phelan, 44 Castle Frank Road, Toronto, was found in Phelan's possession. It read:

"Dad, this is going to solve a lot of difficulties. Give my love to mother, yourself and the gang. So long."

Police reported the young man said he recently "had gone through" a $25,000 legacy.

REAL RED TAPE IS UNWOUND

200 Miles of Authentic Government Stuff Comes From Pension Office Files

By WILLIS THORNTON

Washington, Oct. 17.—All your life you have probably heard about government red tape. Did you ever see red tape unwinding? Well, this correspondent did.

The veterans' bureau is just completing the unwinding of a thousand miles of real, authentic, tangible government red tape.

It had inherited from the old pension office the dusty documents that record the cases of soldiers of post-Civil War days. Down in a dungeon-like cellar, three floors below the street, the records lay, the folded documents, those relating to each case tied neatly together with red tape about a half-inch wide (the same kind one sees on documents in lawyers' offices), stood upright in deep, narrow, galvanized iron trays with a handle on the front to draw them in and out of their shelving.

The veterans' bureau, which now contains records on some 10,000,000 individuals, is crowded for one reason last March, Chief Clerk W. C. Black started 237 emergency employees to taking these red tapebound packets from their shelves, sorting them, and refiling them in a modern filing system.

As the red tape, often faded and rotten, was snapped on each package, a cascade of dust spread on the tabletops, for the tin tray files were open at the top and not dustproof. Three hundred and sixty thousand of these packets have been unwrapped and transferred to 2,500 filing cases, the 200 miles of red tape going into the wastebasket.

FILES TO FLOWER POTS

Of course, that is only the cases actively drawing benefits. Thousands of tin-tray files of inactive cases remain, with their red tape about them, because it is figured that it is hardly worth the time to unwrap and refile them.

One result of all this is that many Washington housewives will have new window boxes. Refiling made the ancient tin cases useless. But though narrower than the usual window box, they are really excellent for flower pots, and the bureau sold them for just that, thus getting some small by-product return on the job.

Do not get the idea that these millions of files in the cavernous depths beneath the veterans' bureau are all the soldier files. The bureau has 18,000 feet of window boxes in one detached warehouse and 50,000 feet of similar bureau records in another. To say nothing of the Revolutionary War records, which are at the navy department.

Many of these documents have already been really excellent for flower pots, and the bureau sold them for just that, thus getting some small by-product return on the job.

Speaking of red tape, the Indian bureau just unwrapped some itself. For fifty years Indian agencies have been making out a complete new roll of all Indians every year. Thus an Indian fifty years old has been reported fifty times.

Just this year somebody had the happy thought that, if the agencies merely reported the births and deaths each year, these could quickly be checked against a permanent list at Washington, thus giving just as good a record, and eliminating work that has been calculated to have wasted the equivalent of the time of one stenographer working seven hours a day for 553 years.

LOTTERY URGED FOR MONTREAL

Montreal, Oct. 17.—A civic lottery to help raise funds necessary for advertising the city's finances is mooted by Mayor Camille Houde.

At a meeting of the Young Men's Canadian Club the mayor declared the city's financial situation is so bad that the law could in some way be evaded and consent of the Quebec government could be obtained.

Such a lottery was seen by the mayor as a solution of the city's financial difficulties. It would render unnecessary a 50 per cent increase in the citizens' tax burden and provide an independent source of revenue.

French and Czech Policies in Line

Canadian Press from Havas
Paris, Oct. 17.—The governments of France and Czechoslovakia have identical views on the subject of foreign policies, their foreign ministers, Pierre Laval and Edward Benes declared yesterday following a long colloquy talk in the French Foreign Office.

Bar Members Of Fraternity

Twenty-four Queen's University Students Lose Social and Athletic Rights

Canadian Press
Kingston, Ont., Oct. 17.—Twenty-four medical students of Queen's University yesterday evening were found guilty of membership in an international fraternity by the supreme court of the Alma Mater Society and were sentenced to a denial of all student social, political and athletic rights for not less than one academic year. "Chief Justice" Morris Leshman consulted with his junior "justices" less than ten minutes before arriving at the verdict.

Stabilization Fund in China

Banks Establish Organ of Control for Foreign Money, After Silver Tax

Canadian Press from Havas
Shanghai, Oct. 17.—China yesterday set up a stabilization fund to stabilize the foreign exchange market.

It was learned that the fund was established by the Central Bank of China, the Communications Bank and the Bank of China.

The fund appeared to be a natural outgrowth of the 10 per cent silver export tax decree issued by the Chinese government in Nanking to protect its monetary reserves against further United States purchases.

WHO'S WHO IS CAUSE OF SUIT

Canadian Press
Toronto, Oct. 17.—Clifford E. Sifton, Toronto solicitor and publisher, testified yesterday at the hearing to determine who had rights to "Who's Who in Canada" that he "had subscribed to 'Who's Who', but had not received it."

Contentious in the hearing in the copyright action are the International Press Limited, and its manager, Barnett M. Greene, and Arthur L. Tunnel, trading as the Trans-Canada Press.

"Mr. Tunnel called on me in January, 1932, and told me he felt responsible for this year, on the present basis of expenditures, will be at least $1,050,000, which is $50,000 more than was estimated in the budget. Comptroller Walter Wadsworth so informed the city council yesterday.

The city's share of relief comes in 1934 was $1,066,000.

At present there are 7,022 cases on the city lists, against 7,890 at the corresponding time last year.

BOY ENDS HIS LIFE

"Daddy" Browning Estate $8,000,000

Associated Press
New York, Oct. 17.—Edward W. "Daddy" Browning left an estate worth between $7,000,000 and $10,000,000, a reading of his will by his attorney disclosed yesterday.

To his adopted daughter, Dorothy "Sunshine" Hood, wife of Clarence Hood of North Carolina, Browning left an annuity of $25,000.

The widow, "Peaches" Browning, will receive only what the law required him to provide her—the income from one-third of his real property, estimated to produce about $5,000 a year.

A number of charitable bequests were listed. Among them was a $100,000 gift to the Hospital for Joint Diseases, to be used for the care of crippled children.

Member of Board Sues For $400,000

New York, Oct. 17.—Dr. William A. Wirt, who made the statement last spring that certain members of the "brain trust" were plotting to bring about social and economic revolution in the United States is being sued for $400,000 by Rose Schneiderman, a member of the United States labor advisory board. This was disclosed yesterday.

One of the causes for action is the allegation that Dr. Wirt said that Miss Schneiderman was known affectionately as "The Rose of Anarchy."

Constitution to Be Amended

French Premier Will Ask National Assembly to Increase President's Powers

Canadian Press from Havas
Paris, Oct. 17.—Premier Gaston Doumergue will present a motion for convocation of the National Assembly for constitutional reform at the forthcoming parliament opening, according to informed circles.

This is the extraordinary measure adopted for changes in the constitution.

The Assembly, consisting of the members of both chambers, would meet at Versailles to pass on the Premier's four-point programme looking towards extension of the President's powers, investment of the Premier with the right to dissolve the chamber and order new elections, governmental exclusive control of budget measures, and a ban on political activity by civil servants.

The Congress (the National Assembly) will meet during the second half of November, it was authoritatively predicted.

At that time the programme will be handed over to a commission appointed by the assembly.

During the committee's labors the Chamber of Deputies and Senate will take over regular legislative work, with stress on the 1935 budget, it was added.

Premier Gaston Doumergue to-day conferred with Jules Jeanneney, speaker (president) of the Senate, and Fernand Bouisson, speaker of the Chamber of Deputies.

COCKTAIL PARTY FOR OCEAN FLIERS

New York, Oct. 17.—A smart cocktail party given for Salvatore Martino and Robert Kuhn, who are sitting around Floyd Bennett Field waiting for the weatherman to tell them to start a non-stop flight to Rome, their reception, however, took place at Sardi's restaurant, west of the Broadway crowd, and largely was attended by Broadway people. Mr. Kuhn and Mr. Martino are from Brooklyn, never had been in Sardi's, and scarcely ever had seen Broadway, except from the skies.

The city will be seeing a lot of them, though, if they come back with the $25,000 prize and contracts for stage appearances. Brave lads, daring to go from one hazardous feat to the most uncertain profession in the world—show business.

R. Fisher, Banker, Barred From U.S.

Associated Press
Hartford, Conn., Oct. 17.—Robert Fisher, for several years head of a London investment house, who came to Hartford three days ago to enter the investment division of the Hartford-Connecticut Trust Company, will not be admitted to the United States unless he wins an appeal to Washington, according to local immigration officers.

Mr. Fisher, arriving in Boston from England early Sunday, was detained as an alleged violator of the alien contract labor laws. He was released on his own recognizance pending the outcome of his appeal.

Mr. Fisher, son of former Prime Minister Andrew Fisher of Australia, visited Hartford for a day last summer and he was said to have arranged for his coming to the Hartford bank were made at the time.

Canadian Press

LANCASHIRE AND AUSTRALIA

R. HON. STANLEY BRUCE'S REPLY
 recently to the Lancashire protest against the new Australian duties, says The Manchester Guardian, was an ingenious evasion of the main point. "That is, simply whether the Australian government has or has not broken its promises at Ottawa. Mr. Bruce claims that it has not, because the duties were recommended by an 'independent Tariff Board' which itself was set up (in its present form) under the Ottawa agreement."

This seems to suppose, first, The Guardian goes on, that the Australian government has succeeded the making of its tariff to an "independent" body. Yet we have the curious fact that in the last twelve months the Tariff Board has made a large number of recommendations (some for tariff decreases) on which no action has yet been taken, and that such of its recommendations as have been acted upon have been mainly increases of duties.

The second assumption is that the Tariff Board is the final and proper interpreter of the meaning of the Ottawa agreement. That view is indefensible, because under the agreement the Tariff Board is charged with the review of "existing protective duties in accordance with the principles laid down" in Article 10. As Article 10 was an undertaking by the Australian government, the question of a breach of that undertaking is a matter between it and the British government. What if the Tariff Board has misinterpreted the intentions of the two governments?

The Board's own reports (in particular its last annual report). The Guardian points out: show the spirit in which the Ottawa commitments are regarded by it. Thus on Article 10, which Lancashire has invoked, the Tariff Board says:

"Both in Australia and in the United Kingdom it appears to have been assumed by some that the giving of 'full opportunity of reasonable competition' entails finely adjusting duties so as to place efficient manufacturers of the United Kingdom and of Australia on exactly the same price level in the Australian market. There is no doubt that such a practice would seriously reduce the sale of goods that can be made in Australia and sold at reasonable prices. This would seriously dislocate industries which have been established for years and would lead to an increase in unemployment, together with wastage of huge capital investment. The subversive consequences of such a policy could not fail to engender opposition to the Ottawa agreement. . . . The Board therefore, while heartily supporting the competitive principle in tariff making, rejects the idea that duties should be merely equalizing."

The Board states its alternative:

"The Board considers that a reasonable duty to protect an efficient economic industry should be high enough to raise the landed cost of an overseas product to the level which will—

- Compensate the local manufacturer for the higher cost (if any) of Australian labor;
- Offset the higher costs (if any) of raw materials and overhead charges; and
- Provide a marginal advantage in favor of the Australian manufacturer.

As to (c), the "marginal advantage" should be wide enough to secure to efficient Australian manufacturers so much of the market as is represented by goods which can be economically produced in the Commonwealth, but it should be narrow enough to preclude any inefficiency, uneconomic extension, or undue profit-taking.

But there is a further modification:

"The Board considers that the margin can justifiably be increased (a) when a new industry is being established in competition with imported goods of brands which are well known on the Australian market.

To form a judgment on the Australian view of Ottawa one has only to try to square these quotations with the pledge of Article 10 that the tariff shall be based on the principle that protective duties shall not exceed such a level as will give United Kingdom producers full opportunity of reasonable competition on the basis of the relative cost of economical and efficient production, provided that in the application of such principle special consideration may be given to the case of industries not fully established.

"For an 'impartial' body the Australian Tariff Board, The Guardian concludes, 'seems to do pretty well by Australian manufacturers.'"

HAPPINESS OF BOYHOOD ENDS

LITTLE PETER KARAGEORGE, WHO becomes a king at an age when most boys are thinking about schoolwork and games, seems to be one of the least enviable figures you could find in all the world of childhood.

A great many stories have been told about the good fortune of the boy who lives in a palace. But there are several million scrub-nosed kids on this continent whose chances for happiness are almost infinitely better than the chances of this little Serbian youngster.

The throne of Yugoslavia lies under a shadow. That part of Europe is not called "the cockpit of Europe" for nothing. The greatest of all wars began there; if another one comes, it is very likely to begin there, too. To be king of Yugoslavia is to sit amidst powder kegs, waiting for menace to take shape beyond the borders.

But if there is danger from without, there is also danger from within. Since the Serbs won their independence from Turkey in 1804, the land has had eight kings—and only three of them died natural deaths while on the throne. Three were assassinated, one was driven out by revolt and another was forced to abdicate by Parliament. Alexander's murder is only the latest in a long series of violent acts.

A turbulent land set down in a troubled and incalculable situation—that is Yugoslavia. And the eleven-year-old boy who now becomes king of this land is one of the most pathetic figures in modern history.

A king is apt to be a prisoner of his own palace, even in the happiest of lands. The gold braid, the bowing functionaries, the guards of honor and the intricate web of custom and etiquette that surround a throne usually cut off all chance for existence as a normal human being. Whatever a king may do for himself or for his people, the one thing he can not do is seek happiness in the ordinary way.

And if this is true for a grown man, how much more is it not true for a schoolboy!

Peter was in school in England when King Alexander was slain. From an English schoolboy he now becomes a king, with court chamberlains to wait on him and a plumed troop of horsemen to attend his coming and going. And the chances are exceedingly good that he will never again be as happy as he was before he fitted a crown on his childish head.

SOVIETS GAIN CONFIDENCE

EVIDENCE THAT THE RUSSIAN GOV- ernment is growing more and more confident of its solidarity among the masses is to be seen in the new rules which liberalize the Soviet election laws.

Although the Russian government does not pretend to be a democracy, or to have a great deal of use for democratic processes, voting rights in the forthcoming elections for local Soviet governing bodies have been extended to the kulak class, to certain minor capitalists, and to various members of what the Communists like to term the "parasite" groups.

This, to be sure, is only a shadow of genuine self-government. The average Russian will have very little more to say about the way his country is to be run than he has had in the past.

But relaxation of these rules, unimportant as it is, would seem to indicate that the Russian government is feeling a new confidence in its own popularity.

WHERE SCIENCE STOPS

IT IS DISQUIETING TO READ THAT DR. Pitirim A. Sorokin, distinguished Harvard University sociologist, after careful research into man's history since the twelfth century, has concluded that the "sum total of our investigation refutes the theory that war tends to disappear with the progress of civilization."

The study, it is enlightening to learn, was made on five measurable factors: duration of war; size of fighting forces; number of casualties; number of countries involved; proportion of troops to total population of fighting countries.

Dr. Sorokin found, we read in The Rotarian, that war was "comparatively insignificant" among major European nations up to the seventeenth century. Then the graph rises sharply, remains up through the eighteenth century, sways somewhat in the nineteenth. But at the start of the twentieth century the line soars to unprecedented heights. In this latter period, war exceeds the sum total of all wars during the other centuries studied.

Scholar that he is, Dr. Sorokin does not let his deduction go beyond his facts. He stops with the statement that, "War does not tend to disappear of itself with the progress of civilization." Nevertheless, the disturbing question suggests itself: Is there a necessary relation between war and civilization? Does what we call "progress" make wars increasingly inevitable, thereby carrying the seeds of its own annihilation?

Happily, such questions need not be answered affirmatively. If Dr. Sorokin's study proves anything, it is, first of all, that human nature is variable. It has functioned for centuries with but little war. If human nature has changed to demand more war, it is logical to believe that it again can be altered to demand much less. There is a germ of profound hope in that.

But it is a hope that can not be realized until men better understand and control the new tensions that cause wars. Behind them stands science, impersonal and unmoral. Its explosives can bomb a city or clear a wilderness. Its radio and airplanes have brought individuals and nations into new proximity. But here science halts, and here men of goodwill must enter if wars are to diminish.

The mere fact that a man knows a man is no guarantee of their friendship. Nor is a new physical closeness of a nation to a nation an assurance that they will not go to war. Every family feud is proof that goodwill does not necessarily follow familiarity. Rotary, however, envisions both "understanding and goodwill" in its Sixth Object, and a growing circle of business and professional men in its ranks are making the two synonymous through fellowship.

The method is not Rotary's own, but it is characteristic of Rotary in action around the world.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

TAXATION AT THE DANGER POINT
 The Philadelphia Inquirer

Many persons seem to think that the spending possibilities of the government are limitless, but they lose sight of the fact that every dollar appropriated for public purposes has to come from the taxpayers. What they also forget is that there is a danger line in taxation which is reached when the levies become so oppressive that they cannot be collected.

THE SOLUTION
 The Ottawa Citizen

The money problem is the basic problem. Money is the only thing that is scarce, and it is scarce for two chief reasons. The first is that the amount in existence is based on the fraudulent gold standard; the second is that its creation is in the hands of a private monopoly. The answer is the basing of the amount of money in existence on all commodities (the only real wealth) and the assumption as a function of government of the issuing of the necessary supplies of money, with scientific regulation that will assure the equation of the money (or credit) with the productive capacity of the nation.

A THOUGHT

But if it be of God, ye cannot overthrow it; lest haply ye be found even to fight against God.—The Acts v. 29.

Men are often treacherous through weakness than design.—Rochefort.

Loose Ends

Dr. Harris and the other youngsters don't seem to be worrying about our comfort—Mr. Cobb makes a touching declaration of faith—and they invent a new game at the corner of Blanshard Street.

SYSTEMS

DR. ALLEN HARRIS, youngest member of the British Columbia Legislature, lately told young Liberals assembled in Vancouver that the kind of system we live under really doesn't matter much, so long as it is the kind that most of us want.

There is a profound truth hidden here somewhere, if one could dig it out. The truth probably is that we are busy making a new system every day, while we are living in the old one, just as wasps build their nests. While we stoutly maintain the old names and the old slogans, the system we live in to-day is utterly different from the system we lived in before the war, and history presumes nothing more pathetic than the spectacle of millions of people patiently waiting for old pre-war days to return.

We are moving ahead at the moment with a speed which will make historians dizzy, but only a few people are conscious of it. Our system ten years hence will be as different from the present one as this is from the pre-war one. We are living right now through the deepest revolution in history but, as Dr. Harris says, it doesn't matter much so long as most of us are in agreement.

We shall probably get along all right so long as we can keep more or less in agreement and carry on the revolution in our own way. The uncomfortable sort of revolution is one like they have had in Russia, Germany, Italy and many other unhappy nations, where a few fellows are running it. So long as we can all have a part in the revolution it doesn't seem so bad, and we can maintain the cozy presence that nothing unusual is occurring.

Probably the system we are busy building now, unconsciously, as it were, in our sleep, would hardly suit our grandfathers, but happily for them they won't be alive to suffer from it. Probably even the present restrictions on private liberty would seem rather onerous to the European nobility of the eighteenth century who enjoyed, among other privileges, the right to disembowel any of their workers so as to warn their feet in human blood after fox hunting.

Probably, indeed, the system that enthusiastic youngsters like Dr. Harris are going to make will seem rather amusing to us if we live to see it. But age is always a perpetual state of annoyance for thousands of years. And it really doesn't matter, for the youngsters are going to build to suit themselves, and as they will be in the majority, there is nothing you can do about it, except call them names and prophesy ruin for everybody.

LITERARY MAN

ONE OF THE most charming folk customs developed by American civilization is the practice of settling our testimonial. I am reminded of the progress made in this flourishing industry by a delightful picture which lies before me now in a national magazine. It shows one of the United States' leading writers, Mr. Irvin S. Cobb.

And what do you suppose Mr. Cobb is doing? Do you imagine that he is standing in a dignified posture or writing at his desk in a workmanlike, literary attitude? If you think so, you do not know American civilization. No, Mr. Cobb is sitting on a chair with a vacuum cleaner in his hands and with an expression of deep gratification on his remarkable face. Mr. Cobb is quoted as saying that he is deeply satisfied with the vacuum cleaner. It is evident that he thinks more of the vacuum cleaner than he does of literature. I have no doubt this is perfectly true.

Not long ago Mr. Cobb gave a series of testimonials to an automobile company and "had" himself photographed in all manner of fantastic attitudes to illustrate the ideas of the advertising copy writers. It was really inspiring to see this great figure of American literature enthusiastically making a complete ass of himself to stimulate the sale of automobiles among his fellow citizens.

Testimonials from men like Mr. Cobb are costly but effective. They must sell automobiles and vacuum cleaners by the thousand. I am waiting to see what article of commerce Mr. Cobb will lavish his genius on next. I am waiting especially to see his personal endorsement of some beauty lotion.

It is an excellent custom, this, and highly remunerative. I mean, in the United States a literary man, actress, orchestra leader or prize fighter has only to work his little life and make a reputation, after that one can support oneself in luxury merely by endorsing things. If you are a beautiful woman with a shapely figure, you endorse tooth paste, nail polishes or underclothing. If you are a big, strong, out-of-door man, with a comical face, you endorse vacuum cleaners for the home. Almost everybody is asked to endorse beauty lotions and cigarettes, but a writer may be assured that he has really reached the apex of the world's literature, when he is asked to endorse a vacuum cleaner. In this matter Mr. Cobb can truthfully say that he has gone further than Shakespeare.

DOTS AND CROSSES

OBVIOUSLY what the Victoria Police Department lacks is a public relations department, an organization to explain to the public what it is doing and why. I have done my best, in a small way, to explain what is happening at the corner of Yates and Douglas, and the police, I know, must appreciate it. But it is beyond even me to understand what they are doing at the corner of Yates and Blanshard.

They have drawn a complicated series of white lines on the road there to create a series of squares, the purpose of which has puzzled every motorist in town. So far as I understand the game, it is like checkers or chess. You can move your car, according to the rules, into a certain square next to you, and to no other, but so far I have never been able to find out which one you can move into. I never was any good at checkers or chess. People always beat me without the slightest difficulty. You can imagine, therefore, how embarrassing it is for a poor chess and checkers player like me, to cross at the corner of Blanshard and Yates. I simply refuse to play and go around by Quadra.

Some fellows are telling me that I have totally misunderstood the rules at the corner of Blanshard. You don't play like checkers and chess, they tell me, but rather like the old game of dots and crosses that we used to play behind the teacher's back at school.

You remember the rules? You drew a sort of double cross, and the fellow who could make a line of little dots or crosses before the other fellow could prevent him, won the game. Some of my friends think that is the way you are supposed to play at the corner of Blanshard. If you can manoeuvre so as to stall three cars in a line on the double cross there, running either north or south or through the centre, you have won the game. But so far, they tell me, no one has been able to win, and this must be very disappointing to the police. That is the trouble with the game of dots and crosses. It usually ends in a draw, with dots and crosses scattered all over the paper. But it's a jolly way to pass the time when you have nothing better to do than scatter cars at the corner of Blanshard.

The "windmill" wings of an auto spin against the wind, although it is the force of the wind that turns them. These wings are power-driven only when the craft is on the ground.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELIS

PORTRAIT OF A GIRL

She is so tall and straight,
 So brimmed with youth's bright fire,
 In her soft green dress,
 Each April breeze comes,
 That any door she seeks
 Must open to her hand,
 Sing wide before her faith
 At a magic wand.

Her eyes are crystal wells
 And deep within lies truth;
 She is so strong and proud,
 And so aflame with youth
 That ever, where she goes,
 Joy goes along with her,
 Till saddest lips must smile
 And weariest pulses stir.

The Times urges its correspondents to restrict their contributions to 500 words.

It positively will not print lengthy communications.

These letters must be plainly written on one side of the paper only, and must be accompanied by the names and addresses of the writers, not necessarily for publication but as a guarantee of good faith.

Letters will not be re-written for publication. If they are not legible no attempt will be made to read them.

Letters not used will not be returned to the writers.

Letters containing offensive personal reflections will not be printed.

These rules, which heretofore will be carried out absolutely, are designed as a guide for the protection of our patient readers as for that of The Times.

CORRECTION—ESQUIMAULT RELIEF

To the Editor:—Will you kindly correct an error in your issue dated Friday, October 12. In a letter under the heading "Esquimault Relief" you printed the amount received by married men as $10.44 whereas it should read $10.44 per month, as stated in my letter, but this does not alter the fact that the treatment received by the Unemployed of Esquimault is a disgrace to the province. No attempt whatever has been made by the reeve and council, to bring the scale of relief anywhere near the amount paid by other municipalities and cities. I see in to-night's issue of your paper, a correspondent states he has heard there is an organization formed in town, the sole object of which is to try to obtain a higher state of existence for the unemployed. I have no doubt the organization referred to is the C.O.F. Unemployed Council, whose sole object is that and nothing else. The Esquimault branch of the C.O.F. Council are holding a meeting of unemployed and sympathizers in the Parish Hall, Esquimault, on Wednesday, October 17, at 8 p.m., to endeavor to find some means to alter the present situation.

CHRISTIAN GOVERNMENT

To the Editor:—It is to be regretted that my passing and entirely unimportant reference to the British-Israel movement should have so excited the wrath of Mr. Blackaller. But as with plays such a large part in this truly gentle nightmare I suppose it was more or less to be expected.

Mr. Blackaller wishes me to name any book on British-Israel that denies Christ. Frankly I do not know of any. I haven't read any fairy tales since I left the nursery.

I could name one or two gentlemen of the lost tribe who have told me the whole dreadful story and I should be pleased to give him their names privately. And what a dreadful story it is: with its millions of halibuts as big as cannon balls, with the birds of the air plucking out its eyes, etc.; the gods and magics; its earthquakes and floods; its Armageddon and all the other nice little surpluses prepared by an All Merciful Father for His disobedient little children!

awful prediction of world disaster—which, by the way, is timed to go off in 1936. It is to be hoped—or at least I suppose so—that it doesn't slip a cog like it did in 1928!

Mr. Blackaller is welcome to believe every word of the Bible from beginning to end, but he will have to have a versatile mind to believe so many different accounts of the same happenings. I don't! My interest in Christianity is solely in the good, the beautiful and truthful principles as preached by the man Jesus. I have no use for superstition. I have, perhaps unfortunately, grown up.

Britain's history is both good and bad, but since 1066 Britain has at any rate stood on her own feet and for one don't admit the necessity of hypochondria with Israel or any one else. If such a silly idea had any truth in it, I can only say, it remained lost! I should be very happy indeed to debate the issue, publicly, with any speaker Mr. Blackaller chooses—provided he gives me two weeks to get some data together and will stage the debate in the Chamber of Commerce or the City Temple.

Here's Way Science Now Relieves Pain in Minutes

BAD HEADACHES, NEURITIS AND RHEUMATIC PAINS
EASED 'ALMOST AT ONCE'

Remember the pictures below when you want fast relief from pain. Aspirin eases even a bad headache or neuralgia often in a few minutes! An Aspirin tablet begins "taking hold" of your pain practically as soon as you swallow it. And Aspirin is safe. For Aspirin does not harm the heart.

Remember these two points: Aspirin Speed and Aspirin Safety. And, see that you get ASPIRIN, the method doctors prescribe. It is made in Canada, and all druggists have it. Look for the name Bayer in the form of a cross on every Aspirin tablet. Get tin of 12 tablets or economical bottle of 24 or 100 tablets.

PITCHMEN SELL AND DO TRICKS

They Know How to Get
Crowds; Rubber Cheques
Interest Bankers

New York, Oct. 17.—In clement weather the bankers and brokers stop and listen to the spels of pitchmen with the curiosity of any casual stroller.

About all they ever buy, though, are tricks—little wooden paddles with disappearing pegs, toy mice on invisible elastic threads, dimes that change into pennies (very popular), books of blank cheques printed on sheets of rubber. There are some of the things which furnish light diversion for some of our great business minds.

Pitchmen are a wily lot, many of them having graduated from the old medicine show school of psychology. A fellow who sells metal polish in City Hall Park attracts a crowd by doing acrobatic stunts. Another, a giant negro, stands for a moment, caressing what looks like a live rattlesnake. Then he shows the timid bystanders that it is made of rubber, and proceeds to sell them razor sharpeners. . . . A Sixth Avenue pitchman simply yells "Hey!" at intervals. When people turn they see him gestulating wildly toward the top of a building. As pedestrians cluster about he turns and says: "Now, folks, I've got some packages of postcards here that are of interest to men."

Frequently seen on subway express trains is a kindly-looking gent carrying a big man's bag with armbands cut in it. From within comes the loud yapping of a puppy. The man grins in apparent embarrassment. The barking becomes still louder, and a lot of people in the train are laughing. Then the man opens the bag and pulls out a hand-ful of toy rubber dogs. "Get your barking dogs, folks."

Most of the pitchmen work with a couple of "shills"—accomplices who form the nucleus of each crowd and make the first purchases. Then they go in opposite directions and act as lookouts for the police. . . . A Wall Street fellow amusingly watching this procedure heard one of the shills say "All right, Al," as a signal that a patrolman was coming. The pitchman hastily folded up his case of cheap neckties and walked on.

So the spectator decided to have some fun himself. He followed along until the shill man stopped and gathered another crowd; then he hurried softly: "All right, Al." The hurried flight occurred again. Twice more he sent the shill man on his way. Then somebody tapped him on the shoulder. It was a large man, accompanied by an even larger man, both looking pretty grim. "You're a joke, wise guy," muttered the latter shill. "An' now, maybe you better buy some neckties."

The shill beside him while he selected scarfs of pink and green and purple, glowered him into silence when the pitchman shortchanged him by a quarter, and wagged a little finger down the street with him, right past a policeman. "Now scram!" ordered the shill. The Joker scrambled.

Stenographer Is Located

Court Examination Can Be Conducted in Nanaimo,
Judge Lampman Told

After all the argument of the last week, it was finally agreed to-day by all parties concerned that there is a competent stenographer in Nanaimo. Last week it was claimed that there was no such person in Nanaimo, when an application was made in the suit of Rithet Consolidated against Frank Cannon, C.P.R. official at Nanaimo. It was argued that Mr. Cannon's discovery examination for the trial could not be staged in Nanaimo because of the lack there of efficient stenographers able to undertake the work. It was said it would be necessary to take a stenographer from Victoria and with his expenses and those of the lawyers the costs would be high. To avoid such costs it was proposed to bring Mr. Cannon to Victoria, but then the difficulty arose that being a C.P.R. official his time was not his own to make the trip.

Yesterday Roy Manzer, counsel for Rithet's, appeared before Judge Lampman and asked that what had been said last week in the argument between himself and R. D. Harvey, defence counsel, be wiped out. He said that F. S. Cunliffe, Nanaimo lawyer, had reported to him there was a capable stenographer in Nanaimo in the person of Mrs. L. J. Humphrey, who had retired from the business but would consent to come out of retirement to act as court reporter and to take this case.

The position now is that if I am willing the examination should be held in Nanaimo," Mr. Manzer said. C. H. O'Halloran, representing T. P. Morton of Nanaimo, defence counsel, agreed to the arrangement and the examination hearing has now been set for Nanaimo.

SOCIAL LEADER IS DOGS' FRIEND

Geraldine Rockefeller Dodge
Known as Best Judge; Has Own Kennels

New York, Oct. 17.—The dogs of the universe, in convention assembled, should get together and give this little girl a great big bark. She is Mrs. Geraldine Rockefeller Dodge, rich social leader upon whom the snootiest kennel show of Manhattan threw the spotlight by electing her "the best judge of dogs in America."

No canine is too nondescript to win her attention, yet she owns and breeds some of the finest dog flesh in the world. . . . To be more specific: Mrs. Dodge has a 7,000-acre country place near Madison, N.J., where she keeps up everywhere and scores of gold-ribbon winners have been born and raised there. Among her dog stars is the internationally famous "Toodle," better known as "Tillie" on this side of the pond. This German shepherd boasts of twenty-eight championship ships, won on both sides of the Atlantic.

Yet, just a few months ago, Mrs. Dodge was strolling in Central Park when she met Louie. Louie was apparently and admittedly "on the loose"—a wily, mongrel. No one ever has been able to figure Louie out, for he seems to combine a bit of collie with a trace of fox terrier, spaniel and even dachshund.

Mrs. Dodge picked up Louie and transplanted him suddenly to the luxuries and appointments of the Fifth Avenue mansion. More recently she rescued another hungry mutt from the predatory life of a park mutter. When she does not know what to do with such strays, she turns them over to swanky friends who youngsters seem to appreciate routes of questionable slowness.

KEPT DOGGEDLY AT IT

There's another interesting angle on Mrs. Dodge's interest in dogs. She began as a fancier and breeder as a gesture of revolt. Her father, the late William Rockefeller, was a horse expert. He did not approve of his daughter's interest in dogs. So she began to convert him.

Profit on Sympathy Of Street Crowds

New York, Oct. 17.—The "gimme" gentry of Gotham have thought up a heart-wracking trick to keep them in coin this winter. With police showing little tolerance for ordinary panhandling, beggars will be the sidewalk tragedians who win voluntary donations. For example, there is a certain youth who fishes for coins through subway gratings along the streets. Many down-and-outers practice the same occupation, but they make very little money there because there are very few lean coils to fish for. This young man carries his own coil—a lead quarter—and retrieves it several times each day.

Since New Yorkers are confirmed gawkers, small crowds always gather to watch with intense concentration the efforts of these grating anglers, who for tackle use a string with a weight on one end and a bit of tar or gum on the bottom of that. The trick is to lower the weight exactly over the object to be picked up, then drop it a short distance so that the sticky substance will adhere. When this is done, after many nerve-racking attempts, there is the breathless minute of pulling the contraption a height of some six feet and wondering whether the prize will stick until it is drawn through the grating.

The lad with the lead quarter makes a great show of anxiety as he works to recover it. Spectators, sensing how much 25 cents would mean to such a ragged youngster, excitedly offer suggestions. As he finally grasps it, his grin of triumph fades to a look of despair. "Oh, gee!" he moans with a half-sob. "It's just a phoney." Onlookers pitch him nickels and dimes for solace. A few minutes later, and a few blocks away, he will be staging his act again.

Because of the many accidents recently in England through handling of war trophies, the inspectors of explosives have sent out a special warning against carelessness, especially in regard to bombs.

GERMANIZED CHURCH LEADER FACES NEW CHALLENGE

Reichsbishop Ludwig Mueller is in a new battle for supremacy of his church over all others. The Protestant church of Bavaria has issued a manifesto challenging his authority. In this picture he is seen, hand upraised, at a Nazi Christian meeting in the Sportsplatz, Berlin. With him is his deputy, Dr. Kinder.

PLAN MEETINGS FOR TAXPAYERS

Victoria Ratepayers' Association Arranges For Monthly Discussions

Monthly meetings for discussions of civic matters of interest to all ratepayers, were proposed at a meeting of the Victoria Ratepayers' Association in the S.O.E. Hall, yesterday evening. The meetings will be held regularly for the next five months, the first one being on November 12.

A review of the association's work since its inception was presented by Frank LeRoy, president, who outlined a number of undertakings in which the group had interested itself and which it had taken part in carrying out or preventing.

There were a number of matters which might be taken up in this winter's programme, he said, and these could be further investigated at the next meeting. The aim of the association was to boost its membership and it was planned to invite all taxpayers of the city to the November gathering.

The meeting appointed J. Howard Chapman, the association delegate on the advisory committee on tourist development.

During the evening S. Smart addressed the meeting briefly, stating the association's chief aim should be the reduction of taxation, not by criticism, but by constructive suggestion.

Dr. E. T. S. Walton, the Irish scientist who helped split the atom two years ago, was invited to give a lecture in Dublin, Irish Free State, to Mr. P. Wilson, daughter of a Methodist minister.

ESQUIMALT DOING WELL

Municipality is Well Within Budget For First Nine Months of Year

A sound financial position is shown for the Municipality of Esquimalt in the report of receipts and expenditures for the nine months ended September 30, submitted to the council at its regular meeting yesterday evening.

Receipts for the nine-month period are well above the estimates for the whole year, with a total of $196,634.63 against an estimated figure of $141,208.19 for 1934. Expenditures add up to $176,189.23 compared with a forecast of $151,189.73 for the whole year.

The municipality reports cash on hand at the bank on December 30 at the figure of $18,455.45, compared with $17,550.98 on January 1, 1934. The taxation receipts to date total $89,071, against a total estimated figure for the year of $89,145. Receipts of taxes in arrears show a notable increase above the estimate. Motor license fees so far this year have amounted for $3,492, against a computation for the whole twelve months of $3,500.

DR. JACKSON TO LECTURE HERE

"Youth of 76" Will Speak at Shrine Auditorium Tomorrow

It is not only what Dr. Jackson says in his lectures that keeps his audience enthralled, it is the breezy, virile, energetic way he says it.

This "youth of seventy-six," as he has been called, makes his subject fascinating.

Given up for dead some twenty-six years ago, Dr. Jackson has so completely rejuvenated himself that he is now able to stand before large audiences nightly and deliver his message with the energy of a strong young man. He demonstrates his principles of health with a body that is capable of surprising feats of endurance, and in a voice which never tires. Dr. Jackson, now on his annual lecture tour, will cover 12,000 miles and visit the principal cities of Canada and the United States.

He will lecture here in the Shrine Auditorium to-morrow night and Friday evening at 8 o'clock, and those who wish to hear him should arrange to go early, as Dr. Jackson usually lectures to capacity audiences. His lecture is under the auspices of the Natural Living League, and admission is free.

MARRIED IN SCHOOL CHAPEL

Windle-Hadwen Nuptials Solemnized at Queen Margaret's School, Duncan

Duncan, Oct. 17.—The recently built chapel of Queen Margaret's School, Duncan, was the scene for the first time of a wedding ceremony on Tuesday afternoon, when Helen Violet Walker, daughter of Mrs. G. H. Hadwen and the late George Walker of Texas, became the bride of Harry Wainwright, son of Mrs. and the late H. W. Windle of Comox. Rev. A. B. Schlegel was the officiating clergyman.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her stepfather, Mr. G. H. Hadwen, looked very charming in a lovely gown of blue tulle, with a lovely length, hat to match and bouquet of chrysanthemums. Mr. James McCulloch of Comox supported the bride, and the ceremony, on leaving the chapel, the girls of the school formed an arch, under which the bride and groom, and wedding party, passed. This was kindly arranged by Miss Denny and Miss Gough, principals of Queen Margaret's School, which the bride formerly attended.

After the wedding a reception to only relatives and intimate connections was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Hadwen, "Ambleside," Lakes Road, Duncan, where the numerous and beautiful gifts were on view.

For her going away attire the bride chose a jersey cloth dress of blue, blue hat, grey coat and grey fur. The happy pair left by motor for the town of Comox, where the bride is spending, and on their return they will reside at Comox.

Out-of-town relatives attending the wedding and reception were Mrs. H. W. Windle, Captain and Mrs. H. DeM. Mellin, Victoria; Commander and Mrs. W. H. Smith, San Jose; Miss J. Carey Gibson, Mill Bay.

After the wedding a reception to only relatives and intimate connections was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Hadwen, "Ambleside," Lakes Road, Duncan, where the numerous and beautiful gifts were on view.

Among those present at the opening of one of the brighter New York night spots, were Mr. and Mrs. Charles O'Brien—that is to say, Marilyn Miller and her new twenty-five-year-old chorus-boy husband. This was the first occasion on which the couple posed for photographers since their surprise marriage.

Members of the Fairfield United Church choir held their first social gathering of the season on Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Percy C. Richards, 1514 Fairfield Road. Games and dancing were enjoyed, and later in the evening refreshments were served.

A card game was held in the Victoria West Liberal Social Club yesterday evening, when partner 500 was played, Mr. and Mrs. Croxman winning first prize and Mr. and Mrs. Bremner the consolation prize. There was a record crowd and refreshments were served after the game.

Mrs. Grant Morden, who has been spending the summer in Vancouver, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Julia Henshaw, and on the island with friends, will leave on October 28 for the Atlantic seaboard, whence she sails in mid-November for England. En route east, Mrs. Morden will make brief stopovers in Winnipeg, Toronto, Ottawa and Montreal.

In compliment to Miss Adele Combe and Mr. Guy Barclay, who will be married on Saturday afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Hardie entertained yesterday evening with a few tables of bridge at their home on Monterey Avenue. The guests included Miss Adele Combe, Mrs. J. J. Moore, Miss Margery Thomas, Miss Madeline Innes, Miss Betty Barty, and Messrs. Guy Barclay, Robin Cran, Harry Hickman and Jerry Sandy.

The subject of sterilization and birth control first came up for consideration by the council in Calgary, discussed in connection with studies of mental defectives. As a result there was a general discontinuance of membership by Roman Catholic societies in the local councils.

Yesterday morning's session was featured by presentation of the treasurer's report by Mrs. James R. Roberts of Hamilton, in which it was shown that a balance of $9,615 was on hand at April 30, the end of the year. Mrs. Frederick Etherington, Kingston, convener of the special foundation fund committee, reported on the work of that body.

A resolution expressing "keen appreciation" of the fact that the Prime Minister "has seen fit to place health on the agenda of the interprovincial conference of premiers to be held in November," was passed by the council yesterday. The resolution also expressed the hope that this action may result in a national health programme for Canada, the Dominion and provincial departments co-operating to the end that there may be complete co-ordination of action throughout the Dominion.

This resolution, which was moved by Dr. Mildred Follinsbee Newell of Edmonton, after she had presented her report as convener of the standing committee on public health, precipitated no discussion.

Miss Winifred Kydd, who, in addition to being president of the council, also heads the Canadian National Parks Association, presented the report on behalf of that body, emphasizing the importance of encouraging tourist travel in Canada, and in this connection said that the construction of a transcanadian highway was of the utmost value.

"Similarly," proceeded the report, "emphasis must be laid upon the growing importance of radio broadcasting in relation to the tourist trade. There should, the committee urges, be the closest co-operation between the Canadian Radio Broadcasting Commission and agencies engaged in the encouragement of tourist travel."

The Y.W.C.A. has organized a reading group under the leadership of Mrs. H. C. English, which will open to-morrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with an address by Miss Margaret Clay on "Books and Leisure." The complete programme for the six weeks course follows:

October 25, Miss Jeanette Cann, subject to be announced; November 1, Mrs. H. L. Smith, "Modern Poetry"; November 8, Miss Frances Madeley, "Japan in Books"; November 15, Mrs. Llewellyn Thomas, "China in Books"; November 22, Mrs. A. Sullivan, "A Book Review."

National Council Hear Dame Janet Campbell

Urges Greater Care in Pre-natal and Post-natal Treatment to Lessen Maternal Mortality

Ottawa, Oct. 17.—Greater care in pre-natal and post-natal treatment was urged last night to the National Council of Women by Dame Janet Campbell, D.B.E., of London, England, one of the outstanding figures in maternity welfare in the world. Economic inability to provide such care should not be a hindrance to its provision, she said. The council of the community should be to ensure that such facilities were open. Dame Janet admitted that modern woman had become less anxious for the safety of the maternity service to furnish them with courage and confidence. If mothers could be brought to take full advantage of the skilled medical and nursing care, provided for them, the "melancholy tale of avoidable death and injury must surely diminish," she said.

STERILIZATION TABOO
"That the committee of mental hygiene be instructed that authoritative information may be gathered on sterilization of the mentally units and that no action in this matter may be proposed to the N.C.W. or its federated societies," was the tenor of a resolution passed by the Council yesterday.

The resolution was moved by Mrs. Rex Eston of Vancouver, and seconded by Mrs. J. Friedman of Ottawa, following Mrs. J. B. Gilley's report on mental hygiene. The subject of sterilization and birth control first came up for consideration by the council in Calgary, discussed in connection with studies of mental defectives. As a result there was a general discontinuance of membership by Roman Catholic societies in the local councils.

This resolution, which was moved by Dr. Mildred Follinsbee Newell of Edmonton, after she had presented her report as convener of the standing committee on public health, precipitated no discussion.

Miss Winifred Kydd, who, in addition to being president of the council, also heads the Canadian National Parks Association, presented the report on behalf of that body, emphasizing the importance of encouraging tourist travel in Canada, and in this connection said that the construction of a transcanadian highway was of the utmost value.

"Similarly," proceeded the report, "emphasis must be laid upon the growing importance of radio broadcasting in relation to the tourist trade. There should, the committee urges, be the closest co-operation between the Canadian Radio Broadcasting Commission and agencies engaged in the encouragement of tourist travel."

The Y.W.C.A. has organized a reading group under the leadership of Mrs. H. C. English, which will open to-morrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with an address by Miss Margaret Clay on "Books and Leisure." The complete programme for the six weeks course follows:

October 25, Miss Jeanette Cann, subject to be announced; November 1, Mrs. H. L. Smith, "Modern Poetry"; November 8, Miss Frances Madeley, "Japan in Books"; November 15, Mrs. Llewellyn Thomas, "China in Books"; November 22, Mrs. A. Sullivan, "A Book Review."

PASS-OUT CHECK FOR KING'S SON

Perth, Australia, Oct. 17.—When the Duke of Gloucester, son of the King and heir presumptive to the Government House, went from the ballroom to the supper room, the door-keeper solemnly handed him a pass-out check.

The duke smilingly pocketed it, presumably as a souvenir of his first contact with the great Australian democracy.

CAST CHOSEN FOR OPERETTA

Victoria Operatic Society Will Present "A Country Girl" Next Month

The cast of principals has been selected and rehearsal are being held regularly for the forthcoming production by the Victoria Operatic Society, of Lionel Monckton's delightful musical comedy, "A Country Girl," which will be staged at the Empire Theatre on November 15, 16 and 17. The society is starting its fifth season and this will be its ninth offering.

"A Country Girl" is one of the best known and most popular of the lighter operettas. It was produced many years ago in London with much success. Its music is light and tuneful, some of the better known songs being "Try Again, Johnny," "You're Little Girl," "The Hush of Breeze," "Molly the Marchioness," "A Dance for Jack," "Come Down to Devonshire," and "My Girlhood." There are two acts in this operetta, the first showing a Devonshire landscape and the second the interior of the Ministry of Fine Arts. There are several court dances in this opera, the dancing being under the capable direction of Mrs. Dorothy Wilson of the Russian Ballet School. Reginald Hicks has charge of the general production and Chris Wade is looking after the music and the training of the large chorus of principals chosen follows: Geoffrey Chalmers, Alva Wetherall; the Rajah of Bhong, Harry Johns; Sir Joseph Verity, James Matheson; Douglas Verity, Jack Townsend; Granter Mummery, Alec McGowan; Lord Anchester, Richard B. ## DARING WOMEN MEDICAL FLIERS

First Flying Medical Unit
Formed in U.S. For Emergency Service

Philadelphia, Oct. 17.—First woman to be appointed medical examiner by the aeronautics division of the U.S. Department of Commerce, Dr. Emma Kittredge, arrived here by plane from California, with four women pilots, members of the Women's Air Reserve of Los Angeles.

This organization is the first flying medical unit composed of women in the United States. Sixteen women fliers, six of them nurses, are members of the reserve. They aim to give medical aid in times of disaster or distress—fire, flood or famine—using the advantages of air service. The flight from California was the first cross-country flight of United States women pilots.

"Any woman pilot," said Dr. Kittredge, "is eligible for membership in the reserve. Of course, she has to prove that she is the fearless, daring type of person who is willing to take risks, and do really hard work."

Asked what woman she regarded as important in the flying field, Dr. Kittredge named Amelia Earhart for her spectacular flight of the Atlantic, and Phoebe Fairgrave Omlie, special assistant for Air Intelligence, at Washington, D.C. "From the point of view of technical knowledge Miss Omlie has done more to advance the place of women in aviation than any woman in this country," Dr. Kittredge said.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

SMALL BABY NEEDS TIME TO ATTAIN AVERAGE SIZE

The smaller the baby at birth the longer it takes before the so-called average weight and height levels are reached. In the case of the premature baby it may be five years before it is fair to make any comparisons with normal seven-pound at birth children in the matter of weight, height, capacity, etc.

A worried mother thinks her small baby is not eating enough. "She weighed three pounds at birth and now at eight months weighs fifteen pounds. She never takes over four and one-half ounces of formula at a feeding."

FEEDING PROGRAMME IS RIGHT

"She does not seem to like wheat cereal."

"I fit her formula in this way: Twenty-four ounces of milk, six of boiled water and two ounces of corn syrup. I boil this. When cool I add an egg yolk and strain it. I give her this twice a day, and sometimes a tablespoon of wheat. She gets orange juice, grated raw apple and some halibut liver oil daily."

"What do you think of this, Mrs. Eldred? I shall be waiting to see your answer in the column."

There is nothing incorrect about your feeding programme. Your only trouble seems to be to tell baby on it."

EVAPORATED MILK SUGGESTED

You could use the same nourishment as is present in twenty-four ounces of milk in only twelve ounces of evaporated and this would materially cut the size of your formula. Thus, twelve ounces of evaporated milk, twelve of boiled water and one to one and a half ounces of syrup. Feed at six, ten, two, six and once at night.

It might be much wiser to cook the egg hard, mash it and offer the yolk separately, or mixed with the vegetable feeding. You might find that it was the egg taste to which the baby objected and a formula without egg would be accepted with relief.

CEREAL NEED NOT BE WHEAT

You may change the type of cereal you are using. Experiment with oats (sieved), barley (sieved), whole brown or natural rice, or even ripe, raw sieved banana. You need not insist upon wheat alone.

Had you enclosed a self-addressed and stamped envelope I could have returned this information to you much more speedily. If you would still like letters on "Feeding From Nine to Twelve Months," and "Ported Milk Formula," I shall be glad to send them to you. Address Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of the "Your Baby and Mine" department of this newspaper.

Your baby has gained twelve pounds in eight months which is an excellent increase. So you may judge that despite the relative smallness of the appetite, the nourishment has been completely adequate to her needs.

To-morrow: "Appetite May Determine How Much Baby Eats."

Harvest Concert At St. Martin's

The annual harvest concert held at St. Martin's Parish Hall on Monday evening was a decided success, both socially and financially. A large audience was in attendance and received the well-arranged programme with much applause and appreciation.

The programme opened with the singing of "O Canada," accompanied by Mrs. Gilbert. Those artists taking part included two star pupils of Sonia Slavina, Olwyn Smirke, too dance and Irish jig; Iris Brooks, military tap and sailor's hornpipe; Miss May Jameson, piano solo; Miss Sadie Jameson, Scotch dances; Miss Ivy Bowles, songs; Mrs. Knight, humorous recitation; Mr. Harman, clog dances; Mr. Thompson, piano solo. The Garden City Buckaroos, who performed for the first time at St. Martin's, were well received by both young and old.

Messrs. Harmon and Thompson acted as auctioneers. Mrs. Gilbert, Mrs. Gamon, Mrs. Rogers, Miss A. Stuckson and Mrs. Zee served refreshments to the artists, after which the singing of the National Anthem brought the evening to a close.

NOTED WOMAN DOCTOR TALKS

Dame Janet Campbell,
D.B.E., interviewed in Ottawa; Coming Here

Ottawa, Oct. 17.—Despite all that has been accomplished in Canada, Great Britain and the United States, infant and maternal mortality is still far too high. This was the opinion expressed yesterday by Dame Janet Campbell, D.B.E., one of the outstanding figures in maternal welfare work in the English-speaking world. Inquiry has shown that at least half the deaths in England are considered to have been preventable, and in New York at least 65 per cent.

Dame Janet Campbell arrived in Ottawa yesterday for a two-month visit as the guest of the Canadian Council on Child and Family Welfare.

She will proceed west to-night to Winnipeg. During her western trip she will be accompanied by Miss Eunice Dyke, presently attached to the Canadian Council on Child and Family Welfare, as secretary of the division on maternal and child hygiene.

Although she preferred not to discuss the high rates of infant and maternal mortality in Canada compared with Great Britain, Dame Janet noted with satisfaction the reduction in the last three years in maternal mortality in Canada, and a sustained reduction over a longer period of years in infant mortality.

To Show Pictures Of Wild Animals

Moving pictures of wild animal life will be shown in the Victoria Truth Centre (New Thought Hall), 720½, Fort Street, to-morrow night, under the auspices of the Sir James and Lady Douglas Chapter, by Mr. Frank Pullen of Oakville, Ontario, who spent two months last winter in East Africa, hunting with gun and camera.

Accompanied by Major G. H. Anderson, guide to both the Prince of Wales and the Duke of York, Mr. Pullen, with his wife, spent a most enjoyable two months, covering 5,000 miles without an accident to mar the pleasure of the trip. Mrs. Anderson accompanied the party. Mrs. Pullen did her "shooting" by camera, and has a large album filled with wonderful pictures of the country and the game. Mr. Pullen will recount many interesting adventures in showing his movies to-morrow night at 8 o'clock.

CARELESSNESS REAPS HARVEST OF INJURIES

Fall—harvest time for Old Man Accident. He anticipates a bumper crop of bicycle riders, skate whizzers, small-wagon owners and sundry. Among the sundry are baby buggies and strollers.

During Safety Week I listened to almost incredible statistics on accidents. In the summer I saw so many narrow escapes myself, I had to believe those figures.

The close calls dislocated my heart, and occasionally my spine when some small rider or other had a narrow squeak with a car, at times our own. "It is terrifying when rounding a curve, or reaching the top of a rise in the road, to see a bicycle and rider in the middle of the track immediately ahead, barely giving a chance to swerve."

Please tell the children for their own safety's sake to keep to the very margin of the road. If there are two, tell them to go single file, not side by side.

LIGHTS FOR BICYCLES

It is almost impossible to see a bicycle at twilight. All should have rear lights and headlights, too.

When bicycles carry double cargo, a youngster perched on the handle bars, the engineer is blinded.

Children usually pay no attention to traffic lights. They shoot out of driveways, from behind hedges and parked cars right into the vehicular stream.

It would be so much better, so much safer for them if they were warned to stop, look and listen as they would for a railroad track. A street is quite as dangerous. And, too, they would be helping everyone if they would follow traffic rules about holding out their hands to let drivers know what they intend to do, and ringing a bell as they pass a slow-moving car.

Small wagons have no business in the centre of a busy street or road. The chances of such children to escape injury is about fifty-fifty only.

TABOO SKATING IN STREETS

Skaters should be told what streets are safe. I would not allow a child on skates to cross any street known for thick traffic. And I would put a taboo on middle-street skating.

Drivers, whenever possible, will wait for a baby buggy to get across corners. But they cannot see what is ahead "before" they turn and "afterwards" it may be too late to stop. We live near a busy and dangerous intersection, and I have seen mothers and nurses plunge forward because the light said to, without a glance to right or left. There are eight ways to look. Why not take another five minutes and find a better place to cross? This chance-taking with a baby is beyond my ability to understand.

A street is a railroad of fast express, even more dangerous because cars and trucks are entirely unpredictable. Treat it as such. Coach the children on the rules. It is worth while.

MAY BE FIANCÉE OF DUTCH PRINCESS

Two years ago, competing with $48,000 contestants, Miss Kraus won second place and $1,000 in a home furnishing contest. Last summer she won a month's free tour of America's leading cities and finest homes, plus $150 in cash, by re-creating her own home, showing what furniture it now has, what she would like to have and just where each piece of furniture would be placed in each room. Miss Kraus is nothing if not thorough.

She made a pen and ink copy of everything to be used, even down to one window in each room to show the drapes, the shades and even the shade pulls.

Humorous situations have arisen from her hobby. She doesn't smoke, but has won several cartons of cigarettes and a box of cigars. She writes such a hand that even her best friend can't read it, but she won first prize for individual handwriting, plus a good slogan, for a fountain pen.

She never has indulged in any exercise more violent than talking, which she does at the rate of a mile a minute, but won a beautiful athletic costume for re-styling an old established line. Just last month she won a crate of fruit, of the only variety that she never eats, for a 250-word letter of why this special fruit is invaluable.

The very word "kitchen" worries me, but I'm always going into contests for menus," she told me. This summer she was $100 for one menu. In addition to these prizes, she won a floor washer, an electric range, a mechanical refrigerator, and various other household appliances, plus innumerable small cash prizes for everything from names for products to household hints.

Miss Kraus is fully as interesting as her hobby. Southern born, Southern bred, never a quitter, she has a single "I" in any word, she has an indefatigable energy that is astounding in anyone so slender and frail-looking. One launched on a contest, she goes into research on the subject with a thoroughness that would put a scientist to shame. She rigs into books at the library, queries experts on the subject, delves into history, gets literary references and ends by doing such a thorough job that she has had a fine time, whether she wins or loses.

She is as orderly about keeping files of everything as she is in digging up material. Here is one of the best rounded libraries on the subjects of contests any private citizen has. So well-known is her hobby in her home town that whenever any club or commercial organization starts a contest they go to Miss Kraus for suggestions on rules, prizes and judges.

"I have no preferences in contests," she told me. "Any contest is to me what firing a pistol shot is to a runner waiting for the signal to start. I'll make a stab at anything."

HAS HOBBY OF ENTERING AND WINNING CONTESTS

Florence Lee Kraus Has Won Lots, Free Trips, Household
Appliances in Novel Competitions.

Florence Lee Kraus . . . just can't resist a contest.

Some women can't see a round-the-world cruise advertised without wanting to pack. Others need only one look at a "Hats Reduced" sign to start shopping.

But Florence Lee Kraus can't see or hear of any contest being announced without putting on her thinking cap and getting into the race.

Miss Kraus is Alabama's prize lady, probably America's leading one. She has won first place in more contests than most people ever enter. In addition she has won silver prizes in more contests than she can remember.

"Think twice before you get into your first contest," is her advice. "Before you know it the contesting habit gets you. It is much worse than bridge or crossword puzzles!"

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

SHORT CUT OFFERS ESCAPE FROM KITCHEN

With fall cleaning upon us and glorious autumn days luring one out doors, who wants to spend hours slaving in the kitchen? Instead, let us use all the short cuts that give the cook a few hours off now and then. The oven dinner, for instance, may be fixed earlier in the day, and each food cooked ready in the casserole in which it is to be baked. Then at the proper time the oven may be lighted and the dishes inserted. Of course, if you are lucky enough to own an oven with a time as well as heat control you may put your dinner in the oven any time, set the time you want your heat and think no more of it.

Foods which can be cooked at the same temperature and for approximately the same length of time must be chosen for the oven meal. All go in at once. Naturally, foods which require the longest time for cooking are put in first and the others added with sufficient time allowance to insure their being done when wanted.

LOW TEMPERATURE NEEDED

Meat loaves, all scalloped combination dishes, casserole dishes of meat and those of meat and vegetables, cereal puddings, bread puddings and baked fruits may be cooked at a low temperature with splendid results. If you keep the dishes covered during baking there is no danger of drying out or over-cooking, even if the cooking period runs over the time calculated. Needless to say, the oven temperature must be low, not more than 300 degrees F., when the time is usually long.

Here is an oven meal my family adores: Ham loaf, potatoes hashed in cream, baked green beans, fruit salad and Indian pudding.

MAKING HAM LOAF

For the ham loaf have one pound ham, ½ pound lean fresh pork, 1 cup dried bread crumbs, 1 small onion, 1 green pepper, 1 egg, 1 cup sifted tomato pulp.

Put ham and pork through food chopper twice. Mince onion and pepper and add with crumbs to chopped meat. Mix thoroughly. Beat egg slightly and add to first mixture. Mix well and then stir in sifted tomato. Shape in a loaf and bake two hours in a moderate oven (325 degrees).

The hashed potatoes are baked in the oven with the loaf. A meat loaf always needs an accompanying sauce or else a vegetable served in a cream sauce.

Green beans make an excellent second vegetable for this dinner, and to bring them under the oven classification, bake them in a covered dish with butter, salt, pepper and a small amount of water. Less salt is required for seasoning when vegetables are cooked in the oven.

A salad of pears, apples and bananas adds a refreshingly juicy touch to the meal and is needed since the dessert is a pudding.

TO-DAY'S MENU

Breakfast: Stewed prunes, cereal, cream, poached eggs on milk toast, milk, coffee.

Luncheon: Eggplant baked with cheese, graham muffins, Chinese cabbage salad, baked pears, buttered cookies (baked the day before), milk, tea.

Dinner: Sauerkraut juice cocktail, ham loaf, potatoes hashed in cream, baked green beans, salad of mixed fruits, cheese sticks, Indian pudding, milk, coffee.

ENGLISH TEAM RETAINS LEAD

4,570 Points Ahead in Second Day of Schwab
Bridge Trophy Match

Associated Press

London, Oct. 17.—England smashed to a commanding lead in the second day of the Schwab Bridge Trophy match, leading the United States quartette headed by Mr. and Mrs. Ely Culbertson by 4,570 points at the end of an early morning session.

The scores at the end of 120 hands: England, 40,430 points; America, 35,860 points.

A bridge player's Utopia, a seven-card suit against an opponent's no trump, lured part of the American team astray during a strenuous day's play in which Culbertson once was heard to accuse his wife of "bad bidding."

Of course, the British did not get so far ahead on one misplay. There were three dandies to-day, with Mrs. Culbertson and her partner throwing in three hands which their British opponents bid for gains.

As new members of the union, Rev. and Mrs. F. W. Anderson and Rev. Chow Ling, Chinese missionary, were welcomed by the chairman.

Announcement was made of the "quiet day" to be held at St. Aidan's on November 5.

Votes of sympathy were expressed in the recent passing of Rev. H. R. Baker and Mrs. Thomas Keyworth.

Officers of the Victoria United Church Social Union were elected at the annual meeting in Victoria West United Church yesterday. Rev. W. J. Howard was named president, Rev. I. McKelvey, secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. H. J. Armistead, social convener.

Impressions of the General Council sessions were given by Rev. C. G. MacKenzie, who stressed the fact that the application of the Christian principle to the social and economic order was strongly emphasized. He made reference to the large youth representation at the meeting.

As new members of the union, Rev. and Mrs. F. W. Anderson and Rev. Chow Ling, Chinese missionary, were welcomed by the chairman.

Announcement was made of the "quiet day" to be held at St. Aidan's on November 5.

Votes of sympathy were expressed in the recent passing of Rev. H. R. Baker and Mrs. Thomas Keyworth.

The Clue of The Forgotten Murder

Bleeker looked across at Griff. "Well," he said, "you've got quite a reputation for getting results. I'm not going to worry about methods; those are up to you. What you want to do is to try to find Mary Briggs—disappearance case, involving some woman who has disappeared within the last forty-eight hours."

"Correct," said Griff. "The first thing to do is to locate the girl. And in the meantime I will see the police in Riverview who thinks it's a poison case and will interview Mrs. Cathay. Bleeker showed some surprise. "I thought you wanted us to make all the contacts," he said.

"No," Griff told him. "I want you to get the facts. I've found out that you can learn more about a person's character by watching his lips when he talks than in any other way."

Bleeker looked thoughtful, slowly nodded his head.

Griff scribbled a number on a sheet of paper which he tore from his notebook. "That," he said, handing the paper to Bleeker, "is the private, unlisted telephone number of this case. Give that number only to the men who are in your closest confidence. Don't ever try to call me on any other telephone. When this case is over that number will be changed."

Bleeker folded the paper thoughtfully.

"There's something I'd like to ask you about."

"What is it?"

"Around ten o'clock on Monday night—the night our newspaper pulled its boner by mistaking the impostor for Cathay—a detective by the name of Shillingbury was murdered."

A man by the name of Decker was apparently the only eyewitness to that murder. He told his story to the police officer who first appeared on the scene and promised that he would be available whenever he was needed as a witness. There was a case of confusion. Decker was in advantage of it and disappeared. Later on he telephoned the police that Decker had come to you."

Griff watched the newspaper man with frowning concentration.

"What about it?" he asked. "How does that affect the case?"

"It doesn't," Bleeker said. "I'm representing a newspaper. Decker came to you. That was an unusual thing for a witness to do. He told you something that he didn't tell the police. As a newspaper man, I'm interested."

"And," Griff said ominously, "you're using this other case as a lever to pry my lips open, and make me disclose a professional confidence. Is that right?"

"No. Badly as I want the news, I wouldn't do that. But remember that the Blade is employing you. It's Blade money that is going to pay you. We make our money from distributing news. Sooner or later the facts about Decker are going to come to light. You'll know when that time will be. When that time does come I want the Blade to have the first chance at the story. I want it on the inside track."

"Suppose," said Griff slowly, "it should appear that Decker was unnecessarily alarmed? Suppose that he doesn't know a thing other than what he told the police? Suppose he came to me in a state of fear which bordered on hysteria? Suppose, further, that there was no reason why Decker shouldn't have vanished for a while? He had no business matters which necessitated his presence here. Suppose I put Decker under cover, not because I thought it was necessary but simply because he was nervous, because that was what he wanted and because he was willing to pay for my services in covering him up?"

"Would you," asked Bleeker, "say that those were the facts?"

"No," I wouldn't make any such statement. I am simply asking you what your position would be if it should turn out those were the facts."

"Then I'd appreciate it very much if you'd let The Blade discover Decker when it's time for him to put in his appearance."

Griff dropped his legs to the floor, pushed his tall frame up from the chair, stood six feet, five inches, efficiency. The bathrobe flared open enough to show his silk slippers and he strode to the door and placed his hand on the knob.

"Perhaps," he said in a tone of finality which left no doubt that the interview was over, "that might be arranged when it's time for him to put in his appearance."

Dr. P. C. Cooper was fat, cherubic, steady-eyed and thoughtful. He surveyed his visitor appraisingly, studied Griff's card.

"Criminologist," he said, musingly. "You're investigating some particular case?" Cooper asked.

"The death of Mr. Frank B. Cathay. He died yesterday afternoon, I believe."

"That is correct. May I ask just what is the nature of your interest in this case, Mr. Griff?"

"You said that before."

"I am seeking information."

"For whom?"

Griff smiled and shook his head. Dr. Cooper's eyes became more thoughtful.

"I can tell you," said Sidney Griff. "I want to find out, and that's all."

"And I, Dr. Cooper said, "can tell you nothing."

"Even in the interests of justice, doctor, you cannot discuss a case?"

"When I have been employed to treat a person," Dr. Cooper said, "I can tell no communications which are covered in connection with my treatment, save the properly constituted authorities, and then only when I am subpoenaed as a witness, and even under those circumstances I would not be free to divulge any matters of professional confidence."

"That is, any communications which were made to me by my patient."

Griff watched the man narrowly, his eyes level-headed in thoughtful concentration, and focused upon Dr. Cooper's mouth.

"Only doctor, matters which were necessarily communicated to you in connection with the diagnosis and treatment. Isn't that correct?"

"That is technically correct. Such matters are communicated to me by my patient, for the purpose of assisting me in making a diagnosis, or giving treatment. But you will understand my judgment upon those matters is final. In other words, the law allows my own conscience to be the sole judge of what is and what is not a professional confidence."

"The seal might be removed from your lips by the surviving representative of the dead man," said Griff.

I believe not. It is a personal and privileged communication."

Griff smiled and after a moment's doubtful delay, Dr. Cooper took it.

"Very grateful for the information you have given me."

"Dr. Cooper's eyes widened in surprise. "But I have given you none," he said.

Griff's smile was one of calm amusement. "OK, yes you have, doctor. You've told me, not in as many words, but in between the lines, so to speak, a very important fact."

"What fact?" Dr. Cooper demanded truculently.

"That competent legal counsel has seen fit to see to it you were properly and forcefully coached upon the law of privileged communications made by a patient to a physician. Good morning, doctor."

And the criminologist left a slightly confused, very much annoyed, doctor staring at him.

CHAPTER XI

Chuckling to himself, Sidney Griff went to the office of Dr. Amstead, the physician who signed Frank Cathay's death certificate.

It pleased Dr. Amstead to surround himself with an air of professional dignity and his appearance was inseparably associated with the insignia of his profession. A round, polished mirror was strapped about the middle of his forehead—concealing a mirror with a hole in the centre, to accommodate the pupil of the doctor's eye when it became necessary to throw reflected light down the throat of some patient.

Dr. Amstead was attired in a white robe and the atmosphere about him was impregnated with the smell of medical antiseptics. His eyes were not quite so steady as those of Dr. Cooper and were far less thoughtful. His cheek bones were high. His figure was tall and gaunt and he had a catfish mouth.

"What can I do for you Mr. Griff?" he inquired.

"You can discuss the Cathay case," said Sidney Griff.

"There is nothing to discuss. The man died of natural causes. My death certificate is on file. I will refer you to that for any specific information. More than that, I cannot give you."

"Can you tell me," Griff asked, "anything about Mr. Cathay's symptoms?"

"No."

"Anything about the degree of temperature?"

"No."

"Anything about the time which elapsed from the appearance of the first symptoms to the time when the coma developed, which, as I understand it, lasted until death?"

"No."

"I ask you, doctor?"

"Those are matters of professional confidence."

"What do you mean?"

"If I should answer you a question, and it had nothing to do with a professional confidence, would you answer it?"

"If it is true," said Sidney Griff slowly and solemnly, "that in your presence, and in the presence of a first-class reporter, Dr. P. C. Cooper, who was associated with you on the case, stated that the symptoms were identical to those of luminol poisoning?"

Dr. Amstead flushed. "I'm not responsible for what Dr. Cooper may have said," he remarked.

"What I am asking you is if Dr. Cooper did make such a statement?"

"I believe," Dr. Amstead said, "that he did. I think I shall refuse to answer that question."

"Upon what ground, doctor?"

Dr. Amstead flushed. "Upon the ground that it is none of your business," he said.

"But it happens," said Griff, smiling urbanely, "that that is very much a part of my business. It is one of the things which has brought me to the city."

Dr. Amstead's mouth was a firm line of lipless rigidity, upon which Sidney Griff's eyes were focused.

"I still maintain that it is none of your business," Dr. Amstead said truculently.

Because of the enthusiasm in Paraguay over raising cotton, which only slightly increased the crop, the production of corn, rice and other staples is below normal.

NO WOMAN makes a greater mistake than the one who permits herself to get so absorbed in her children that she loses all interest in her husband and all companionship with him. Yet many wives commit this fatal error and thereby pave the way to the divorce court or else prepare for themselves a lonely and empty old age.

Take the case of Mrs. A. When she married Bob A. she was as pretty and intelligent and altogether as desirable a bride as any man could wish, and any girl would have had a right to thank her lucky stars for getting him as a husband. They were very much in love, very congenial, they worked and played together, and there seemed one of those matches made in heaven.

Then Junior came and all was changed, for it developed that Mrs. A. was one of the women who are all mother and no wife. With a suddenness and unexpectedness that left him gasping, Bob found himself deposed from his throne as head of the house and king of his wife's heart and relegated to the humble position of servant to his Majesty the Baby, and of no importance whatever to his wife except as a purveyor of luxuries to the mewling infant.

She had literally no time for a mere husband, nor any consideration for his desires and pleasures. She quit dressing herself up for him because the baby pulled at her lace and mused her chignons. She wouldn't step out with him of an evening because she was afraid something would happen to the baby in her absence, and when he dragged her out against her will she wet-blanketed the occasion by wondering if the baby had got uncovered or if somebody had come in and stolen him. Evenings at home became dull and boring because Friend Wife had lost all touch with life outside the nursery. Her conversation was just a chapter out of the Baby Book and little Tommy's tummyache was a more thrilling event than a world revolution.

The years rolled by. More babies came, the older children grew up. Mother's obsession about them to the exclusion of her husband never changed. The children were still first with her, with father running a bad second. She still ruthlessly sacrificed him to the youngsters.

Only now Mother drove him out of his chair in the living room so that Bussie might entertain her dates. And he had to give up listening to the radio in the evening because the children wanted to turn on the jazz and dance. And he had to give up his vacation and stay at home and work during the hot weather because Mother was determined to send John off to a swami boy's camp. And Mother kept his nose to the grindstone because her children had to have fine clothes and go to college and have sport cars.

Then all of a sudden, it seemed to Mrs. A. the children were all gone. married, with homes of their own. Set about the business of life for themselves, and there was nobody in the big house but herself and Father, and when she looked at Father he was a stranger. A man she hadn't really seen or hardly thought of for twenty-five years. A man with whom she had nothing in common any more and who bored her as much as she bored him.

Mrs. A. has grown listless and despondent and her friends fear she is passing into a state of melancholia because she no longer has any interest in life, now that her children are gone from her. She has finished her job of rearing a family, and now that that is over, she has nothing to fall back upon. Her children are gone and so is her husband. She drove him away from her when Junior was a baby.

These middle-aged and elderly years, after a woman has reared her family and seen them launched on their careers, should be the happiest and most serene time of her whole life. For she has the consciousness of work well done. She has the knowledge that, although she is not necessary to her children any more, she is a benign influence in their lives. She has leisure to do the many things that she could not do when her days were all too short to answer all the calls for Mamma and Papa, and with the demands of the children on the family pocketbook, lessened she has more money to spend upon herself than she has ever had before.

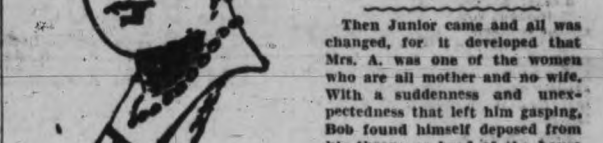

But whether a woman's life after the children are gone is full or empty, whether it is happy or miserable, depends upon her relationship to her husband. It depends upon whether she has kept the companionship between them a close and vital thing, or let the children separate them. It depends upon whether she has sacrificed her husband to her children or not. It depends upon whether she is still a sweetheart to him, or just the children's mother.

Women do not intentionally let their children alienate them from their husbands. They are only so crazy about the baby that they assume that their husbands are equally crazy and actually enjoy giving up their wives' society and being deprived of all the little attentions and pettings their wives have accustomed them to and prefer seeing these lavished on the children instead of themselves. But men are not made like that. Few of them relish having their noses put permanently out of joint by a little moon-faced creature who proves a more deadly rival than a sheik.

Hence the man whose wife goes all mother either finds some other woman to hold his hand while his wife is holding the baby's, or else he absorbs himself in his business and goes his way as his wife has gone hers. But the two paths never meet again and become one as they were in the beginning.

A woman can only count on having her children with her twenty or twenty-five years at most. Generally it is less. But she can have the happiness of the companionship of her husband for forty or fifty years, or even more. So she makes a bad bargain when she neglects her husband for her children and when she absorbs herself so completely in them that she has no time to give him any attention.

UNCLE WIGGILY'S DANCING LEAVES
By HOWARD R. GARIS
The wind was blowing hard as Uncle Wiggily hopped out of his hollow stump bungalow one October morning to go adventuring.

"My goodness! I must be careful!" said Mr. Longears, as he felt the strong wind. "It may blow the Wiggily right off the end of my pink nose and then what would I do?"

Well, the wind did not do that but it did blow off Uncle Wiggily's hat, and he had to chase it like the devil through the woods. Harder and harder blew the wind. Faster and faster the hat rolled on ahead of the rabbit gentleman.

"Hi, there! Stop! Whoa! Back up! Halt!" cried the rabbit gentleman. But the hat was neither an automobile nor a horse nor a soldier, so it neither stopped, wheeled, backed up nor halted.

Uncle Wiggily was getting quite out of breath from chasing his hat when he noticed what seemed to be little creatures about as large as your hand, also racing through the woods after it. Some of the tiny creatures seemed to run along with the hat. Others ran in front of it and some ran beside it.

NOTHING BUT LEAVES

"If these are fairies I wish some of them would catch my hat for me," said the rabbit gentleman as he stopped to get his breath and feel the end of his pink nose to make sure the twinkle was still there. It was, and he felt better and then, all of a sudden, the wind did not blow so hard. The hat stopped rolling along and the tiny creatures which had followed it, also stopped. Then Uncle Wiggily said, in surprise:

"Why, they're nothing but leaves!"

So they were--just leaves that had fallen from the forest trees and they were being blown along the woodland path as Uncle Wiggily hopped.

"But they looked like little fairies!" said the rabbit gentleman as he picked up his hat and pulled it back over his head so it wouldn't blow off again. Then, from the ground, a tiny voice spoke to him:

"We are fairies, in a way, Uncle Wiggily. But we can't do what the wind blows and not everyone can do that." It was a red leaf speaking to the rabbit gentleman. And then a purple leaf said: "Perhaps you would like to see us dance."

"I should love it!" spoke the bunny uncle, taking a seat on a flat stump as if he were in the movies. Then the wind began to blow again, but the hat of the rabbit was on too tightly to be blown off.

But how the wind blew the leaves! It tossed them up, it whirled them around, it dropped them softly down and then it played tag with them.

"Come on! Dance!" called a brown leaf to a golden yellow one.

"Dance faster!" called a red leaf to a purple one.

"Jump up higher!" called a dark green leaf to a pink one. And as the wind blew they held stems for hands, and danced, leaped, jumped and swung about. Faster and faster they danced and swirled.

"This is wonderful!" said Uncle Wiggily. "I never before knew the dance of the leaves could be so beautiful." But so it was.

At a sudden, along came Uncle Wiggily's cat. He wanted to catch Mr. Longears. But quickly seeing that the leaves were dancing faster than ever. They formed themselves into a circular screen about the bunny uncle and the hat. The cat couldn't see him, so the Bad Chap ran away. Then the leaves and the bunny danced together for joy.

And if the auto will lend its wheels to the leaves, too, to make some roller skates, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Jack's boat.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel"

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 18, 1934

Conflicting planetary aspects are active to-day, according to astrology, and there may be unexpected incidents. Public opinion will be divided on many subjects, especially those relating to federal policies. There is a sign suspicious for men and women in authority.

Business affairs will be prosperous along many lines. Unforeseen events will stimulate trade and exports will increase. Discussion of calendar changes now will be widespread and differences of opinion sharp. Churchmen will be divided on whether the twelve-month year is better than a year of thirteen months.

The stars appear to aid any who settle disputes or who act as mediators in international affairs. Diplomats should benefit, and one foreign envoy will gain new fame.

This is not a lucky day for girls whose minds are set upon social matters. Young men may be indifferent to feminine charms and will be slow to respond to advances, especially where engagements are likely to cost money.

Women should concentrate on many old-fashioned handicrafts as winter draws near. Knitting, weaving and quilt-making will fill many human needs.

Persons whose birthdays lie in the latter part of the year will have the luxury of a year of amusement, journeys and sport. Both young and old should enjoy the coming winter.

Children born on this day probably will be exceedingly bright, to whom all active and noble qualities will be inborn.

Subjects of this sign may reach lasting distinction.

Helen Hunt Jackson, author, was born on this day, 1811. Others who have celebrated their birthdays include Robert L. Stevens, boat-builder and inventor, 1787, and Edward Winslow, founder of Plymouth Colony, 1580.

PROPERTY DEAL ON SALT SPRING

Ganges, Oct. 17.—A. B. Morrison, Vancouver, has purchased one of the subdivisions on the property of Gavin C. Mount at North Salt Spring.

T. P. Speed has purchased another subdivision on the same property. The monthly meeting of the South Salt Spring Island Women's Institute was held recently at the home of Mrs. R. McLennan, Burgoyne Valley.

The president, Mrs. Richard Maxwell, was in the chair. After general discussion it was decided to hold the annual Christmas night dance in the institute hall, Pultford. At the next meeting there will be a shower of jams and preserves for the benefit of the Mill Bay Solarium and the Lady Minto Gulf Islands Hospital.

To attend the South Vancouver Island district conference, which takes place next month, Mrs. R. Maxwell and Mrs. L. D. Drummond were elected delegates. Mrs. R. McLennan and Mrs. G. E. Akerman were tea hostesses.

The result of the first football match in the Victoria District Junior League, played between Salt Spring Island team and Sidney at Sidney, resulted in a win for the Islanders 6-0. Desmond Crofton scoring four goals and Jim Akerman two. Salt Spring line-up was as follows: Goal, P. Nelson; backs, T. Isherwood and D. Shepherd; half-backs, P. Crofton, Fred Morris and P. Rowland; forwards, B. Akerman, D. Crofton, J. Akerman, H. Nichol and R. Cooper. Sidney—T. Morgan, C. Mogridge, L. Harris, H. Boshier, L. Slater, C. King, B. Hill, H. Smeethurst, C. Waters, G. Shepherd and W. Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. Rustace Tassell, who have been spending a month at Harrison Hot Springs, have returned to Pultford Harbor.

Col. and Mrs. Bryant have returned to Beaver Point after spending several days in Victoria.

Mrs. R. McLennan, Pultford, has been visiting in Victoria as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. K. McLennan.

A thrifty farmer whose field lies along the water's edge near the scene of the launching of the new Cunard liner at Renfrew, Scotland, made nearly as much profit as he would from a year's crop by charging an admission to the field during the ceremony.

Diamonds imported into the United States during the first six months of this year were valued at $7,000,000, an increase of 60 per cent over the same period of 1933.

Jordan River

Mr. and Mrs. A. Ternan and her daughter, Joan, have left for Vancouver, where they will make their home.

Mr. and Mrs. William, Books, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. MacVicar on Sunday.

Mrs. Main left here recently for Scotland, after spending several months visiting relatives.

WILL DISCUSS COURSE LEASE

Special Meeting of Esquimalt Council Thursday Will Decide Fate of Links

Just what is to become of the Macaulay Point golf course will be decided Thursday evening at an extraordinary meeting of the Esquimalt Municipal Council, it was announced yesterday evening, after that body had spent more than an hour of an exceptionally long session in debating the re-lease of the property.

The council is generally willing, it resolved, to grant the Macaulay Point Golf Club a three years' lease of the course, with option of renewal.

After considerable argument it was decided to settle the details of the matter, with a solicitor present to clear up certain technical aspects of the lease.

A recommendation from the Ratepayers' Association that the course be municipally controlled was not supported by the councillors.

During the discussion of technical points concerning the ownership of the club house, it was suggested by a councillor that perhaps this building was not really so important.

"You have evidently never heard of the nineteenth hole," replied Reeve Alex Lockley.

A large bridge is to be built across the River Tay in the eastern part of Scotland.

Ending a quest of over a month's duration, Joel McCrea has been signed to play opposite Marlene Dietrich in "Caprice Espagnole," to be directed by Josef von Sternberg. The picture, which goes into production within two weeks, will star Miss Dietrich as a Spanish aristocrat in a story scribbled by John Dos Passos.

Due to the sensational nature of the novel, "The President Vanishes," the name of its author will not be divulged. But Lynn Starling, who adapted it for the screen, will accept full credit for the title sheet. Walter Wanger is producing the film version, under the same title release. William Wellman is directing.

Twelve Arabian nautch girls, stationed in Hollywood following an international film, have been engaged for atmospheric sequences in "Lives of a Bengal Lancer," now in production.

Lanny Ross thinks that a mysterious "Mrs. C. ## LEFT-HANDED CHILDREN NEED NOT BE INFERIOR

But Trying to Make Them Right-handed May Cause Awkwardness, Disturbance of Speech and Mental Deficiency

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEN

The superstition that there is something wrong with people who are left-handed, dies hard. In fact, left-handedness seems to be appreciated most in baseball pitchers, but hardly in any other form of sport.

Even the dictionary records the left side as inferior. Thus it states that the left hand is inferior in muscular strength, readiness and skill, and this hand is less under control than the right hand for operations requiring delicate manipulations.

The trouble is that the dictionary does not take into account the fact that the left hand may have been superior at birth, but that somebody's notions insisted on right-handedness, and therefore, the result was marked inferiority on both sides.

In previous generation attempts were made to make every child right-handed, regardless of the tendencies which it betrayed toward the left. The child who is born left-handed comes into a world which is right-handed.

Of course, left-handedness is not a sign of inferiority or abnormality, but the motions of our hands and legs are controlled by our brains. There are two sides of the brain. The left side controls the right hand and right leg, and the right side of the brain controls the left hand and leg. In most cases one side or the other dominates, and this is dependent on years of hereditary development.

When we try to change left-handed children to right-handedness, we are really trying to change the complete organization of a switchboard, a network of wires and switches that we do not actually control. If it were a telephone system, we could connect and disconnect wires. In the human being, all we can do is endeavor to train the system into a form of operation which may be against its natural tendencies.

As a result of this forced training, awkwardness develops. There may also be blocking, so that stammering and difficulties of speech follow. Disturbances of thinking are usually associated with disturbances of speech and with blocking of this type.

If the mental machinery is adjusted to a certain system of operations and we try to force it into some other system, the new system is naturally slower. It is felt that many disorders of behavior are also brought about by this attempt to force right-handedness on left-handed people.

SID GRAUMAN PRAISES SHOW

It is not often that kittens can be trained to perform tricks, but such is the case with "Homer's Indoor Circus," which will open a three-day engagement at the Empire Theatre to-morrow. Several trained horses and a mule are also with this company.

Mrs. Dora Wolfe Homer, the leader of this animal troupe, has accomplished what a great many people thought to be impossible. She has successfully trained her two beautiful Persian cats, Beauty and Felix, so that they are perfect in their stunts. They have performed in many cities of the United States, and once toured Alaska and the Hawaiian Islands.

Sid Grauman of the famous Chinese Theatre in Hollywood wrote the following letter to the owners of these animals, "Permit me to congratulate you on the very unique act of your wonder horse, 'Headlight'."

"I am happy to state that this performance was more than satisfactory from an audience standpoint and very satisfactory to me as well. It is among the most ancient of world's games, and the Persians were adepts at it. It is still the favorite indoor sport of the Near East."

"Cleopatra" is now at the Capitol Theatre.

Historians from Plutarch to Cecil B. DeMille relate that Cleopatra, the glamorous lady who was the last of the royal Egyptians, was inordinately fond of such a pleasant pastime as poisoning slaves. But she had her lighter moments, too, and even indulged in harmless parlor games such as "duodecim scripta," rattling the "bones," or puzzling over a swift chucker of "passoi."

Duodecim scripta was the name by which the ancients knew the game called backgammon to-day. It is among the most ancient of world's games, and the Persians were adepts at it. It is still the favorite indoor sport of the Near East.

THE SPORTS MIRROR

DETROIT, the United States metropolis closest to Canada, has had more thrills in 1934 than any other city on the continent and yet Detroit did not quite make the grade either time. But the city had a lot of fun and thousands of Canadians realize for the first time how much fun Detroit can get from these titanic sport classics. It seemed impossible last spring that the city would become any more excited than when the Red Wings were battling for the National Hockey League championship against Toronto Maple Leafs. They built bonfires in the street in front of the Olympia arena all night before the final game to buy tickets when the wicket opened in the morning. A blizzard raged that night and snow was a foot deep.

Hockey is Canada's national sport but it is doubtful if any Canadian city could show a supporting cast more rabid and excited than Detroit. When the Red Wings did beat the Leafs in that deciding game, 4-3, 100 persons all Detroiters, held, threw just about everything that was loose on the ice. Six months later at Natick, Mass., they threw everything at the Red Wings when the Red Wings triumphed and celebrated a Red Wing triumph and a Detroit defeat. The first National Hockey League championship.

Detroit is just recovering now from its first world baseball series in twenty-five years. Not in years has a United States city been so thoroughly aroused by any sporting event. Schoonhyer Rowe, who won the Cesarewitch Stakes, was just as the Red Wings failed in the Stanley Cup series with the Chicago Black Hawks. Detroit did not reach either Detroit or Chicago, but it achieved more sustained excitement than any city anywhere.

The date for next year's English universities' row race has not yet been fixed but already an Oxford crew under the direction of Coach Hal-Thomas has gone to Henley. Thus the world's greatest rowing regatta is being followed up. Hal-Thomas is one of the most successful of modern coaches and he has been associated with each of the winning Cambridge crews since 1924. The fact that he is now to direct the work of the opposition shows how high he is in the estimation of Oxford to win the race. The crew is using this year's Oxford boat, in which the Leander Club set a new record for the Grand Challenge Cup at Henley Regatta. They are having two outings a day and in the afternoon are working in a fixed tub which has been installed at the bottom of the garden of Thamesfield, the residence of Sir John Edwards Moss. The men under Hal-Thomas's care are M. H. Mowbray, R. S. Banks, D. Hogg, A. V. Sutcliffe, D. M. De-Winner, E. D. D. Tomlin, A. S. Gille, B. J. Scott, C. D. Sturrock, C. G. Costley White, H. D. Green, T. E. Camman and W. O. C. Shebears (coxswain).

The trophy offered by Sir Walter Lawrence for the fastest hundred scored during the English cricket season of 1934 was won by Frank Woolley, Kent, who scored 104 in thirty-three minutes against Northamptonshire at Dover on August 17. He was closely followed by another Kent batsman, A. J. C. Douglas, who hit up 100 in sixty-five minutes against Somerset at Taunton in May. Woolley also got an order to the value of 100 guineas on a London store. This, together with the trophy, will be competed for annually under the title of the "Lawrence Trophy."

With a well-timed drive straight down the fairway on the 18th hole at St. Andrews, Bernard Darwin drove himself into office as captain of the Royal and Ancient Golf Club. He is the first journalist to be elected captain of the club. Once there was a novelist captain of the Royal and Ancient, A. Whyte-Melville, whose portrait is one of the many which hang on the walls of the premier club. Many years ago Melville-Melville was elected captain. He was nominated a second time in 1923, but he died in that year at the age of eighty-four. The new captain represented England against Scotland eight times and played for Britain in the Walker Cup against United States in 1922.

Perry Beaten In Exhibition Match

Los Angeles, Oct. 17.—Capping off a singles victory over Fred Perry, England, Gene Mackay, of the University of Southern California, yesterday teamed with Lester Stoecken to defeat Perry and Pat Hughes, also of England, in the final doubles event of a two-day tennis exhibition match here, 7-5, 6-3. Mackay on Monday defeated Perry, the world's ranking tennis player, 6-0, 6-2.

Mrs. Ethel Burkhardt Arnold, local tennis star defeated Dorothy Round, English singles star, 6-2, in a one-set exhibition. Nancy Lyle and Margaret Deane also defeated the lone British victory of the day when they defeated Corbin Babcock and Elizabeth Ryan, 10-8, 6-4.

U.S. Owned Colt Wins Long Event By Half Length

Marshall Field's Entry Heads Shining Cloud and Penny. A Liner to Finish

WINNER STARTED AT 7 TO 1 ODDS

Canadian Press
Newmarket, Eng., Oct. 17.—The favorite Enfield won the famous long-distance handicap, the Cesarewitch Stakes, from a high-class field this afternoon. Shining Cloud was second and Penny A Liner third in the field of twenty-seven that raced over the two and one-quarter-mile route. Enfield, starting at odds of 7 to 1, finished half a length in front of Shining Cloud, which started at 20 to 1. Penny A Liner, at 33 to 1, was the same distance back in third position. Enfield's time was 3:48 1-5.

The winner, one of three three-year-olds in the race, is an English-bred colt by Winalout of Firecrest, owned by Marshall Field of the United States. Enfield was ridden by the veteran jockey, Sirett, and carried 108 pounds, twenty less than the weight assigned Loose Strife, who was unplaced.

LIGHTEST IMPOST
Shining Cloud, also a three-year-old, ran in Abe Bailey's colors with D. Smith up, carrying lowest impost in the race, ninety-three pounds. Penny A Liner, owned by J. B. Joel and ridden by Richardson, also was lightly handicapped with ninety-six pounds.

It was the ninety-sixth renewal of the famous handicap which, unlike most major English races, was not interrupted during the war years. The race was run under wet, dreary conditions and in the heavy mist the colors of the runners were not visible until the field had streamed across the flat where Quincey led over Shining Cloud, Loose Strife, Dejazomba and White Plains with Enfield running nicely just back of the leaders.

TRIO OF HOOP GAMES TO-NIGHT

Lake Hill and New Method to Clash in Feature at Victoria High Gym

Headlining a three-game bill, Lake Hill and New Method Laundry squads will battle in a men's senior B-basketball fixture at Victoria High School gym this evening.

In the opening game, Standard Laundry and Maroons will meet in a women's B division clash scheduled to begin at 7:30 o'clock.

Badminton Tourney Continues To-night

The first half of the American handicap mixed tournament of the Willows Badminton Club was played off on Monday evening and resulted in some close games. The winners of section 1 were R. Bagley and Mrs. Munro, and winners of section 2 were Drennan Hinks and Miss Betty Potter. In the play-off, R. Bagley and Mrs. Munro (minus ten) defeated Hinks and Betty Potter (minus one hand), 15-12, after a close and exciting struggle. The prizes were presented by Miss Jean Campbell.

The second half of the tournament will be played off this evening. Play starts at 8 o'clock sharp, and as there are a large number of matches to be run off, all players are requested to be on hand at that time. Those competing follow:

Mrs. A. Grubb, Mrs. Mangin, Miss I. Benson, Mrs. Duke, Miss D. Morley, Miss V. Erington, Miss B. Bailey, Mrs. MacDonald, Miss M. Turner, Mrs. Jemmy, Mrs. Harris, Mrs. Austen, Mrs. Playfair, Mrs. Mitchell, Miss M. French, Miss J. Trump, Miss R. Hamby, Miss K. Mitchell, Miss B. Clark, Mrs. Unsworth, E. J. N. Mitchell, S. ## Gridders Must Be Bona Fide Students

Winnipeg, Oct. 17.—The Students Union of the University of Manitoba laid down the law yesterday that no players will be eligible for the Varsity football squad unless they are registered as bona fide students with their fees paid.

GIANTS WILL REVAMP CLUB

New York Club Reported to Be After Dick Bartell of Philadelphia

New York, Oct. 17.—New York Giants, deposed from the seats of the baseball mighty this year, will undergo a shakeup before the 1935 campaign rolls around, but there is no reason to expect that the talented southpaw, Carl Hubbell, will be traded in the process of club alterations.

From his home in Memphis yesterday Bill Terry added his denial to the somewhat indignant reaction of Giants' headquarters here over the circulation of reports that Hubbell would be offered to the world champion St. Louis Cardinals for one of the team's brothers under wet, dreary conditions and in the heavy mist the colors of the runners were not visible until the field had streamed across the flat where Quincey led over Shining Cloud, Loose Strife, Dejazomba and White Plains with Enfield running nicely just back of the leaders.

The Cardinals are no more anxious or willing to part with either Dean than the Giants are to let go of Hubbell, hero of the 1933 season and winner of twenty-one games this year, despite a poor finish.

The belief is that Dick Bartell, captain and shortstop of the Philadelphia Athletics, will come to the Giants during the winter in exchange for Blondy Ryan, George Watkins and a pitcher.

HARD-HITTING CARD FEATURE

One Knockout and Four Technical Kayos on V.A.C. Fight Programme

Hard-hitting amateur battles from local and outside clubs offered followers of the boxing game plenty of action at the Tillamook gym yesterday evening as they slugged their way through a card which saw one bout end in a straight knockout and four others finish in technical kayos.

Drumming his opponent with a two-fisted one-two attack, Connie Mails, 135, Seattle fighter, stretched Walter Spavin, Victoria, on the canvas in one of the two features on the double main-event programme. In the other, Frank Brown, Victoria, stood off Bill Medwick, Seattle, to gain an easy decision. The boys weighed in at 138 pounds.

George Haslam gained the nod over George Palmer, Fifth Brigade boy, when he closed one of the latter's flurries of punches. The weight was 115 pounds.

Finishing strong, Doug Smith, 145, Vancouver, representative, was put out of the ring by the referee shortly after he had entered it against Bill Griffin, smart Chemainus boy.

Boys' Paul, navy fighter, opened up a cut over Des Horgan's eye in a slashing bout, and the latter, a V.A.C. fighter, was forced to leave the ring in his 175-pound bout.

In the fourth bout, Doug Day, 134 pounds, Fifth B.C. Coast Battalion, took a decision over Tiger Jackson, Chemainus. George White, 160 pound, Sixteenth Scottish, won over Doug Ball, Rocky Point. Doug Bonner, 125 pounds, T.M.C.A., triumphed over Don Tyson, Y.M.C.A., Sterling Chambers, 95 pounds, V.A.C., took the decision against Moser, Fifth Coast Battalion, and Ernie McMin, ninety pounds, defeated Charles Atkinson.

Empire Swim Star Will Perform Here

Bobby Hooper, Vancouver's All-Canadian Team Member, to Race in School Children's Gala Friday Night; Entry List Announced

A husky, sixteen-year-old youngster from Vancouver, who has already won his way to the ranks of the best in Canada, will show his prowess in the annual School Children's Gala on Friday at the Crystal Garden on Friday as Bobby Hooper, the fair-haired lad from the Terminal City, swims against a local relay as one of the highlights in the annual School Children's Gala under the auspices of the Victoria Amateur Swimming Club.

The boy, anxious to prove his mettle generally in British Columbia, will match his strokes against two or three local performers of merit.

Hooper is the outstanding boy developed in the west in recent years, and can be looked to for future performances of outstanding merit if he keeps his sport up.

RELAY FEATURES
As usual the relays are expected to be highlights of the gala again. In the 200 yards, four to a team events for grade schools, both victors in the first of the two games in Winnipeg, which his mates won 9 to 0 and 15 to 0 against the Dakota All-Stars. But before he went down, struck on the head by a pitched ball, Jimmy had hammered a home run. That was his last blow or the tour.

Released from the Winnipeg Hospital on October 12, Fox rejoined the team in Calgary. He went on to Spokane, Wash., with the team, but did not play in Monday's game there.

FOX'S PLANS NOT SETTLED

Philadelphia Star May Not Make Trip With Major Ball Team to Orient

Seattle, Oct. 17.—Whether or not Jimmy Fox, first baseman of the Philadelphia Athletics, would be on the major league baseball team that will tour the Orient remained an open question today as Earl Mack's American Leaguers reflected upon their triumphant tour of western Canada. They won all eight games.

One of the best hitters in the majors, Jimmy was put out of action in the first of the two games in Winnipeg, which his mates won 9 to 0 and 15 to 0 against the Dakota All-Stars. But before he went down, struck on the head by a pitched ball, Jimmy had hammered a home run. That was his last blow or the tour.

ENGLAND TO HOLD PERRY

World Champ Will Be on Davis Cup Team Next Year, British Official States

New York, Oct. 17.—When John Bull trots out his Davis Cup team for defence of the international tennis trophy next summer, Fred Perry still will be in England's line-up.

You can take that from no less an authority than Leighton Crawford, a member of the British Cup selection committee, who returned recently from the Pacific Coast, where he talked with Perry.

"I wouldn't say that Fred never will become a professional," Crawford said. "It is my opinion, however, that he won't join Vines and Tilden and the others for some time to come, if at all."

"Perry enjoys his popularity with his countrymen in England and I dare say he wouldn't be very popular if he turned professional."

"He has England's lofty place in the tennis world in his heart and you can bet that he'll be playing on the Davis Cup team next summer."

Added from being impressed with what he considered the promise of superiority of California net players over the rest of the world, he visualizes in Donald Budge, red-haired coast youngster, the making of another Fred Perry.

"Budge has good and sound all-around stroke production and has a first-class match temperament," Crawford said. "I think he is your best future prospect and has the makings of a world beater."

Ottawa Seeks U.S. Gridders

Toronto, Oct. 17.—Manager Hugh Jenney of the Argonaut Football Club in the interprovincial loop, stated yesterday evening they would sanction the use of Lerne Johnson on the Ottawa backfield but they certainly would not agree to the use of Carl Cronin, player-manager of last year's Winnipeg team.

The Ottawa club lost two of their United States players and are seeking permission to use Johnson and Cronin in their place. Johnson was on the receiving end of most of the passes last year with Abe Eliowitz at the tossing end.

ORILLIA WILL OPEN SERIES

Canadian Lacrosse Champs Meet Vancouver St. Helens in First Game To-night

Vancouver, Oct. 17.—Their efforts to patch up differences with the Canadian Lacrosse Association unsuccessful, Orillia Terriers, Dominion Lacrosse champions, met Vancouver St. Helens, Vancouver, today, blithely awaited the opening of to-night of their five-game exhibition series here.

Yesterday evening President Don McKenzie of the C.L.A. and executives of the two clubs, opened negotiations aimed at bringing back to the fold of the Dominion body the clubs which were ousted when the Canadian executive refused to sanction the series and suspended all players participating in it.

Neither McKenzie nor the C.L.A. executives announcing he would ask for a vote on what action was to be taken against the Orillia Terriers, a director of the British Columbia Lacrosse Association executive who backed the series.

President McKenzie offered to lift the suspension of the C.L.A. men, and to name the officials, provided both officials were acceptable to the clubs. This latter suggestion was not agreeable to President McKenzie, so the negotiations collapsed and the situation remains the same as when the Canadian executive refused to sanction the Terriers' western tour.

Great Pitcher of St. Louis Cardinals Gets Annual Award in National Baseball League; Paul Waner Places Second; Deans Taken For Fall at Franklin Institute

Associated Press
Chicago, Oct. 17.—And still they call him "Dizzy." He's the most valuable player in the National Baseball League. He's the idol of St. Louis, the talk of the baseball world. He's making thousands of dollars for himself, cashing in on his fame.

And he's having a lot of fun doing it all. He was christened Jerome Herman Dean. They called him Jerome when he was picking cotton for less than a dollar a day, but when he began to skyrocket across the baseball horizon they started calling him "Dizzy."

The most valuable player award of the National League is the latest honor to fall to the pitching sensation of the championship St. Louis Cardinals. The Dizzy one came within two points of a perfect score in the selection by a vote of slightly more than two to one over slightly representing the Baseball Writers' Association of America, which votes the honorary award each year, getting seventy-eight votes out of a possible eighty, his margin was twenty-eight points over Paul Waner, Pittsburgh outfielder, who finished second with fifty points. Joe Moore of the New York Giants was third with forty-two, and Travis Jackson, New York, next with thirty-nine.

SUCCESSORS
Dizzy's successor, Carl Hubbell, ace of the Giant pitching staff, who obtained only sixteen votes. Other leaders were Melvin Ott, Giants, thirty-seven; James Collins, St. Louis, thirty-two; Bill Terry, Giants, thirty; Curt Davis, Philadelphia, eighteen; Paul Dean, St. Louis, sixteen, and Hal Schumacher, New York, sixteen. Twenty-five players received votes in the balloting.

Some of Dizzy's achievements over the 1933 campaign: Won twenty games and lost seven in the regular season; won two world series games; led the National League in strikeouts for the third successive year; finished 1933 batting .340, pitched 111 innings; participated in fifty-one Cardinal games, as either a pitcher, pinch hitter or base runner; batted .344 and won the Giants six times.

And still they call him "Dizzy." Philadelphia, Oct. 17.—The dashing Deans, fresh from a breakfast of ham and eggs and decked out in baseball togs, invaded the sanctum of the science of the baseball game, and left just as the batter for the science side threatened to get them in a hole.

Take it from the elder member of the pitching clan—Jerome Herman "Dizzy" Dean—the visit of himself and brother, Paul, to the historic Franklin Institute contained nothing difficult for a Dean—nothing at all.

That is, there was nothing difficult about Dr. James H. Barnes' lecture, "The Science of the Baseball Game," which the Deans attended. Then Dizzy remembered a date he had some place away from the institute. He was a little bit of a baseball bat there is a centre of oscillation," was Dr. Barnes' observation.

"The centre of what?" was Dizzy's enlightening comment. "Hey, Paul, I think we gotta go," he hastened to add. "I think we are late for the lecture."

Later the Philadelphia Stars, for which the Deans performed, dropped both games to the Boston Stars, 4 to 0 and 12 to 0. The Deans played the outfield in the first set-to, and Dizzy pitched for two innings of the second contest, called in the seventh frame because of darkness.

Radio Board's Plan Protested

Canadian Daily Newspapers Oppose Advertising Scheme

Toronto, Oct. 17.—Directors of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association at a meeting here yesterday adopted the following resolution:

"The Canadian Daily Newspapers Association most emphatically and unanimously protests against the recently announced policy of the Canadian Radio Commission in entering the field of nationally-sponsored radio advertising programmes and in so doing invading with governmental endorsement and public funds the advertising field. The Radio Commission, being entirely maintained by public funds, is not empowered to seek revenue from national broadcast stations involving the diversion of advertising appropriations."

It was decided to send a committee of four, headed by W. J. J. Buller, president, to Ottawa to interview Premier Bennett.

DENIAL BY CHAIRMAN

He was commenting on a resolution passed by the directors of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association at Toronto protesting against such a policy on the part of the commission.

HANNAY JURY FAILS TO AGREE

Second Attempt to Complete Trial at Nanaimo Fails; First Was Discharged

Canadian Press

Nanaimo, Oct. 17.—The new jury empaneled in the trial of George Hannay failed to agree yesterday evening after hearing the evidence adduced, and was discharged by Mr. Justice Denis Murphy.

Hannay was charged with being in possession of stolen goods, knowing them to have been stolen. The first jury was discharged yesterday after what Mr. Justice Murphy considered irrelevant matter had been introduced by the crown prosecutor.

Hannay was charged with being in possession of seven keys, and a number of times of grease and oil, the property of the Union Oil Company, but the evidence in regard to the grease and oil was ruled out by His Lordship because the crown had failed to prove they were stolen.

Other goods introduced were two paint brushes, a stone mason's hammer and two blow torches, but only the case for the keys, one blow torch and the hammer, were allowed to go to the jury by the presiding judge.

WHY NOT COMPROMISE ON TRAFFIC SIGNS?

By TOM MERRIMAN

THERE seems to be a lot of letter writing and talk about "Stop and Go" signs.

Obviously there is not unanimity. Then there should be compromise.

All we have to do is to have the signs reading "Stop and Go," or maybe "Stop or Go." Those who want to can go and those who want to stop can stop. Then everybody will be happy.

Personally, I am with those who want to preserve "a little bit of England" in Victoria. I would like to see Chief Heatley select some of his hand-somest cops, "like the bobbies of England," as Frank Giolma says, and post them at vantage points waving pannants telling the traffic to "follow the birds to Victoria." A fine figure of a man, the Chief would look good on the job himself. As the tourist issue has crept in, George I. Warren's enthusiasm will make him eager to co-operate. And the cops' well-known courtesy of minding babies for tired, shopping mothers ought to be capitalized, too.

RELIEF COST REPORT MADE

Esquimalt Spent $3,297 For Nine Months; Public Works Costs Well in Hand

Relief work cost the municipality of Esquimalt the net sum of $3,297 during the nine months' period ended September 30, according to the statement handed in by the engineer's office at a lengthy meeting of the council yesterday evening.

The actual total expenditure on relief amounted to $6,500. From this is deducted, as far as the council is concerned, an allowance of over $3,200 from the government, representing two-thirds of the actual labor cost.

Of the total figure, married men accounted for $4,071, single men for $739.50 and materials used in the work undertaken for the remaining $1,689.50.

Among the works carried out by relief labor during the nine-month period were gravel sidewalks, the development of Bullen's Park, the cleaning of ditches, the widening of Lampson Street, Devonshire Road and Head Street, work on the Gorge Bridge, and a fair amount of actual road building.

PUBLIC WORKS

Expenditure of the public works department of the municipality is well within its estimated limits, the municipal engineer stated in submitting his statement, and unless something unforeseen should occur the department should close the year with an advantage.

Expenditures for the first nine months of the year have totaled $10,342, which leaves a margin of over $1,600 remaining from the year's estimated costs of $16,170.

ENGINEER ON PWA PROJECTS

Joseph Nunn of Bonneville, Ore., is honeymooning in Victoria

Honeymooning in Victoria today are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Nunn, of Bonneville, Oregon. Mr. Nunn, an engineer engaged on relief construction projects in Oregon and Washington, is a graduate of Cornell University, and his bride is a graduate of the University of Oregon. They are staying at the Empress Hotel.

Mr. Nunn has been engaged in an engineering capacity on the $31,000,000 dam project under the PWA of the NRA, forty miles out of Portland on the Columbia River highway. On this project relief employment is given to men at the rate of fifty cents an hour for a five-hour day and six-day week, the workers being boarded for $1 a day.

On terminating his honeymoon here, Mr. Nunn will go on to the Grand Coulee dam, situated about 100 miles from Spokane, which was inspected by President Roosevelt
